New Year Welcomed By Terrace Church

Knox Christmas Services at Terrace Well Attended

TERRACE—The new United Church was used for the first time on Christmas Day and was filled at both services. At the morning service the Sunday School was in attendance.

Mrs. C. W. Alger told the Christmas story beautifully by means of the flannelgraph.

Mrs. Hans Amdam, the Super- intendent, spoke on the mean- ings of the Christmas Tree, and the Minister, Rev. P. H. Mallett, gave a brief talk on "The Great- est Christmas Gift."

Mrs. Amdam, on behalf of the children, presented their offer- ing to the Building Fund to J. H. Smith, the treasurer of the Church.

Pins were presented by the Minister to a number of children for regular attendance.

In the evening the Young Peo- ple of the church presented a unique candle-lighting service. Anita Brue sang "Infant Holy," and "Star of the East" was sung by Joan Attwood, Margaret Ken- nedy, and Colleen Sites. At inter- vals through the service candles were lit by the Young People each representing some aspect of the Christmas message. The service was climaxed by the can- dles being brought from the Communion Table to the congrega- tion, whose individual candles were then lit, thus showing how the light of Christianity is passed on from one to the other. Those taking part were: Joan At- wood, Anita Brue, Margaret Kennedy, Flora Melvin, Colleen Sites, Francis Gavan, Ross, Don, and Dave Gillanders, and Robin McCall. Ushers were Lenora Loveless and Gale McCall.

Although the Chancel with its arch is still incomplete, the ap- pearance of the new church was much admired, as were the Christmas decorations.

Skidegate Honors Camosun's Crew

Capt. Harry McLean and offi- cers and crew members of the steamer Camosun were honored guests of the native people of Skidegate Mission on New Year's Eve as the coastal liner made her scheduled call in the inlet. Many of the ship's personnel accepted the invitation and enjoyed the hospitality of the hosts. A nine- piece orchestra provided the mu- sic for dancing.

Bad Weather Holds Flight

Regular C.P.A. flight from Seal Cove air base to Sandspit to- day was being held up until 3 p.m. due to the late arrival of the flight from Vancouver. Bad weather along the southern B.C. coast caused the delay. There will be no flight back from Sandspit today, passen- gers from Vancouver for Prince Rupert remaining over at the Queen Charlotte Island trans- fer point until tomorrow morn- ing.

Slight Blaze At Port Edward

A small fire broke out under the warehouse on Horseshoe dock at Port Edward late New Year's Eve and caused dam- age amounting to nearly $100. Cause of the blaze was due to acetylene torch flames applied to frozen pipes. An official of the company stated today damage was primarily done by the foa- mite used to extinguish the fire.

EMPTY MILK CUPS NOW—A trio of Austrian school boys thrust forth their empty cups to ask for the hot food they receive each day, thanks to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). Canada will help fill these cups. The postal address "UNICEF, OTTAWA" is accept- ing Canadian funds to buy Canadian food to help six million sick and hungry children living in former theatres of war.
