British Columbia has tremendous drawing power... as witness the fact it is Canada's fastest-growing province.

It has "pulled" about 85,000 willing new residents from Saskatchewan, alone, during the past five years.

* New incorporations of companies in B.C. equal those of all other western provinces combined.

* British Columbia can go on progressing if we all work together and keep the confidence of investors whose savings are essential so that new jobs will be opened in this province.

* Larger than Washington, Oregon and California combined, British Columbia is a great province growing greater because its people pull together.
