

Alexander Gooch Dies In Seattle

Alex Gooch, who conducted the Pioneer Rooms in Prince Rupert from 1935 to 1942 died recently in Seattle in his eighty-seventh year. Born in St. John, N.B., he was through the Klondyke stampede, remaining in Dawson until 1905. He was located in Fairbanks until 1918, subsequently moving to Seattle, where a son, Edmund Gooch, and a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Oliver, survive.

Prince Rupert Gets More Halibut — Prices Surprisingly Strong — Trolling Disappointing

Predictions made months ago that the Area Two halibut season would last little more than a month echoed back soundly this week with the announcement by the International Fisheries Commission that the area would close at midnight, June 1, just 32 days

Starting at 154 cents for medium, the price has not only held strongly during the last three weeks but has increased slowly until Friday's sales activity brought a peak of 20 cents for medium, 18.9 for large and 10.5 for chicken.

When they hope their fact-finding will be completed. They have set up a laboratory in the administration building of H.M.C.S. Chatham where results of their work will be developed as the work progresses. With Dr. Tully this week on the Ekholi was Allan Richard Herlinveaux while Allan J. Dodi-mead is working with Dr. Pickard.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 1:30 this afternoon from the south and will sail later in the day on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

RACED HOUNDS FIRST The sport of greyhound racing originated in Egypt and is at least 1,000 years older than horse racing.

The navy's oceanographic vessel Ekholi, which arrived here early this week, went out on its first expedition into Chatham Sound, returning after its initial experiments last night. Purpose of the experiments is to determine salt content in the waters at the outflow of the Naas, and Skeena rivers. Four scientists, under direction of Dr. J. P. Tully and Dr. G. L. Pickard, have divided themselves into two teams which will alternate at sea almost continuously between now and the middle of September.

AUSSIE WOMAN RUNS HATCHERY

Big Enterprise is Down-Under Version of "The Egg and I"

SYDNEY, Australia (C)—The United States best-seller, "The Egg and I" has a modern, streamlined Australian parallel in the real-life story of a Sydney woman who manages one of the biggest chicken hatcheries in the Southern Hemisphere.

She is Mrs. A. Pearson of Strathfield, who presides over the hatching of some 30,000 chicks each week. At the hatchery all work—with the exception of chick sexing—is done by women. The owner, Stanley Gamble, considers that women make ideal assistants in this highly specialized business.

Mrs. Frances Merrett, for instance, has the job of testing the eggs for fertility after they have been in the incubator from a week to 10 days.

In this modern hatchery the incubators do everything but cluck. Their capacity is from 10,000 to 16,000 eggs and they are made of Queensland silky oak.

Chicks from the Gamble hatcheries are sent all over the state of New South Wales as far afield as Maitland, the possibility of foreigning of chicks herself.
