INJURED AT FISH PLANT

While stepping onto the top of a box car from a platform at the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. plant at Seal Cove Monday, Jack Decino, 400 Seventh Avenue West, stumbled, fell backwards and suffered serious injuries to his chest and head.

An ice chute he and three fellow employees were carrying, dropped on his chest as he fell backward. His head hit the platform.

Rushed to General Hospital by city ambulance, his condition was reported improved this morning. "He was badly shocked," stated Dr. W. S. Kerghin. "His general condition is quite satisfactory. He will be in hospital for two or three more days."
