Appreciation Due

CEVENTEEN public-spirited citizens offered I themselves for the community service at the civic nominations which closed yesterday. The appreciation of the city is their due, wheher or not they are elected at the polls next Thursday.

With competition only for the four aldermanic seats, a substantial list is offered from which to choose and, as there are many good men-unfortunately there are no women—in the field, some difficulty may be experienced in arriving at preferences.

Important duties are also entailed in service on the school and parks boards where there are just enough candidates to fill the seats. There could have been no wiser course than to have re-elected, as has been done, the three able members of the board of school trustees to succeed themselves and carry on the important job of school reconstruction and reorganization.

The parks board is a new departure. The body may not have a lot of money to handle but it will be in a position to carry out useful planning for the future and possibly find some means of getting something done along much-to-be-desired lines in city beautification and development which is much needed here.

SCRIPTURE PASSAGE FOR TODAY

"There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus."-Rom. 8:1.

BIG THINGS FOR ALASKA

THE grave turn of the war and the all-out defense program augur big developments for Alaska, with its vast reservoir of unused power, comments the Ketchikan Chronicle.

Unofficial word from Washington indicates that several federal agencies now are vying for the power that can be developed along Alaska's largest rivers. A new project has been outlined by the engineers at Wood's Canyon on the Copper River above Cordova, along the old Copper River right of way, which reportedly would produce as much power as Grand Coulee Dam itself.

The Taiya (Dyea) River project near Skagway has been put up to an important priority position, and probably some action will be taken before spring to let it go to Alcoa for aluminum, to the navy for a guided missile project or to one of the other agencies for their expanding needs.

The news that Alaska has some uranium deposits, now being tested for possible production, and that the Atomic Energy Commission is going to expand indicates that Alaska may come into the AEC program before it is all over. Whether our remoteness from other plants, such as at Arco, Idaho, and Richland, Washington, would be in our favor or against us is problematical.

These are the inevitable by-products of a warring world and, while Alaska would much prefer to have peacetime industries come north, our fate already is closely linked to defence and our latent hydro resources may tip the scales in favor of the western powers.

TRUMAN'S BOMB

A FEW MINUTES after President Truman told the world that the use of the atom bomb was 'under consideration," my telephone began to ring.

Anxious womens' voices began to ask what could be done to stop President Truman from ordering the dropping of that awful device. Would it do any good to send a telegram to the President' Or should Canadians send their wires to our own Prime Minister'

WE DO NOT know yet whether President Truman dropped that verbal bombshell by accident or careful design. But we do know part of the reaction:

The hint about use of the atom bomb caused more consternation in the western countries than it did in China or Russia-maybe because more of us heard about

Mr. Attlee's trip to Washington was one direct result.

FOR YEARS back I have beer trying to tell Canadians WHY think we will never have a work war three of the character of the former two great wars.

I have never said that we would not have another world war-for obviously all that the nations have to do to yet a worl: war three is to keep right or going the way we have been

Tet us not kid ourselves either about the nature of the war. if it comes. Atom bombs will b used-so will germs-which D Brock Chisholm savs have at ready made A bombs or H bomb obsolete.

BUT IN MY opinion there not a government on earthespecially Stalin's-which know what would happen once th third world war started. That why I have never thought the Stalin and Co. would push +3 cold war to the point of outries world war. They are well awar that the Russian armies com sween across Europe, the Lands and the Holy Land to Sur They could take over more South Fast Asia.

But what would happen to the fabric of society in Russia itself Apart from the disintegration effects of atomic warfare, who of the political warfare which the western democracies won' surely organize everywhere the Red-held zone?

FOR YEARS BACK I has taken the rap for saying the we had better "talk it out" withe Russians and their R Chinese allies than continue t shoot it out, by cold or hot war

Now Mr. Churchill and rathe belatedly, even General Mac-Arthur have come around to the same view-the latter agreeing that negotiation is better that shooting.

But just a word of warning: It takes two to make a peac but only one to commit a murde or make a war.

If the other fellow wants to fight—you either have to figh or pay the rice of not fighting. That latter is the terrible truth that a lot of wishful thinkers overlook.

Bank Depositing Process Speeded

Business through the teller cages at the Royal Bank of Can ada here will be speeded up as : result of a new deposit receiving system which has been installe where, in future, only counting of cash will be required when the deposit is handed in, the checkbeing routed to a proof machine which sorts them into categorie and proves the correctness of the deposit. In short, the scrutinizing of checks by the teller is eliminated. The device is said by Manager Grant Stewart to be the latest in banking devices.

A fire switch believed pulled in mistake for a light switch caused a false alarm at B.C. Packers Cold Storage at Seal Cove which was answered by city firemen at 8 o'clock this morning.

Rat Menace Ray Reflects Seen Here and Reminisces

Is Main Concern In Monthly Report of Health Unit

Chief concern expressed in the monthly report of the Prince Rupert and District Union Board of Health for December was in connection with the increase in the rat population. Careful instructions for their reproduction are outlined in the report.

The report calls the rat "th most useless and dangerous pes in the world," car ying man diseases-some fatal to manand causing annual destruction to property and food of $20 per rat. "There are at least as many - probably more - rats than there are people in Canada," the report states. It speaks of the apid reproduction of the vermin.

Three methods of getting rid of them are noted: Starve them out-keep garbage containers covered so that gulls. cats and dogs do not scatter the "watched your step." contents about; keep stored foods in metal containers-vegetables in bags should not be stored on cellar floors.

Build them out-Keep holes in floors and walls blocked off; have doors and windows fit close-

Kill them-when food and shelter have been eliminated, the remaining rats may be trapped or poisoned more easily.

The report goes on to warn against unconcern for the menace and asks all citizens to coorerate in keeping down the r-* population.
