Junior Citizens Are Taking Posts

One hundred positions are expected to be filled by this evening by students participating in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Future Citizens Day, according to an announcement this morning by S. G. Furk, chairman of the Future Citizens committee of the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Applications were slow to come in and by Monday evening, only three had been received by Junior Citizens City Clerk Iona Hardy. However, by this morning there had been nearly seventy and Miss Hardy said all the positions would be filled by this evening.

The broadcast scheduled to be held by the Junior Citizens city council Tuesday was postponed until last night when they made a creditable showing.

Next Tuesday is the day the juniors take over running the city. The day will end with a social for the juniors and the people who have worked with them during the day.

Junior Citizens Day is part of the Jaycees "get out the vote" campaign.

TRIBUTE TO CELLULOSE

Editor, Daily News:

In regard to the company and our boys who work at the cellulose plant on Watson Island, we are very proud and happy that the Columbia Cellulose Co. has taken enough interest in our city of Prince Rupert to go to the trouble and expense of erecting and establishing a plant of its size and capacity, creating employment for our local boys.

My son is employed by Columbia Cellulose and loves his work, bosses, and general good treatment he receives there at all times. Furthermore, the meals he gets there are first class and, instead of taking a cold lunch from home, he is able to have a good substantial hot meal out at Watson Island.

Such officials as B. Ingram the boys love as they would their own father or big brother. So I say Columbia Cellulose of Prince Rupert "carry on" and maybe the torch will ever be lit and held.
