Learning to Fly —

Do you know what it feels like to get your feet off the ground K.C.'s. and zoom through the open air hands. But there is nothing to it. Learning to fly is as simple as eating home made pie. And it's safe. So say the enthusiasts of the Prince Rupert Aero Club at Seal Cove.

The birth of the local organization stems back three years. But it wasn't until three weeks ago that actual flying instruction began. Instructor Bob Kelsey flew to Vancouver in the club's two place Taylorcraft-a blue, silver-winged pontoon job-prior to giving instructions, and had the plane tested. He also had himself tested and walked away with an instructor's certificate. The flying end of the club has operated for the last two Satur days and three Sundays. More hours have been possible lately due to the longer sunny days. It is planned that instruction will Grey also be given during week days

Engineer of the club is Bol Davis, connected with a flying company here.

The club expects to purchase another aircraft. This will enable a larger enrolment and entitle a student more flying hours in his log book. At present, Instructor Kelsey prefers to limit student hours to one hour or less in order that every member be accome dated. But with the arrival of a second plane, the problem would be solved.

The instructor stated that learning to fly in a plane equipped with pontoons is not any simpler or any more difficult than handling a land-based aircraft. In fact, he added, knowledge gained in a sea plane is much more valuable than any instruction obtained in a wheeled craft. Graduation from a sea plane to land plane is simple.

"Nothing to it," he declared "But it may be more difficult by the vice versa method," he added.

Cost of flying instruction here as far as a sea plane is concerned is believed to be the most reasonable as compared to any school across Canada.

Remember: Right Breakfasts
Are Important

HERE'S something many overlook. Here are the facts. Read them. Then, today take these first steps to feeling better - acting better. Your folks will benefit. You'll benefit.

Smart People DON'T Skimp Breakfast

Breakfast is specially important to you because it should start you off RIGHT for the day. If your business demands that you be keen . . . bright . . . pay extra attention to the day's first meal. Here's why. To eat no breakfast or a poor one simply results in fatigue, irritability and lessened efficiency.

Smart People PREFER Grape-Nuts

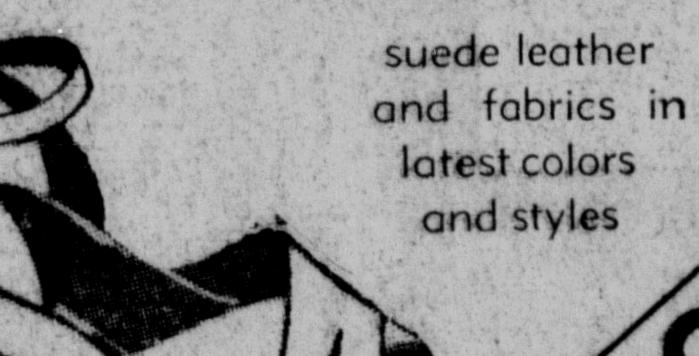

Grape-Nuts is a special breakfast cereal. That's why you make breakfast more nutritious, more enjoyable by including just two tablespoons of Grape-Nuts - appetizing, golden, crunchy kernels of whole wheat and malted barley. That's why you benefit from useful amounts of carbohydrates, minerals and proteins: fine food values. So flavorful with milk or cream. Different recipes are on the package. Grape-Nats is the most economical part of a good breakfast. Order from your grocer today.

"For breakfast we like our Grape-Nuts with milk. For supper we like them baked with raisins, milk and sugar", writes a Kitchener, Ontario, fan.
