Artist-Preacher Starts Revival

Travelling missionary evangelist of the Norwegian Baptist Convention and the Baptist Union of Western Canada, Rev. H. G. Jorgensen, who combines artistry and revival preaching in an intriguing manner, commenced a ten-day mission at First Baptist Church here last and drew a large and interested congregation.

The subject was "Peace" which he declared, stemmed primarily from the human heart and the individual will inspired by the presence of Christ and His spirit within men. The pastor found his subject in John XIV, 12-27. Mr. Jorgensen, adept in sketching, drew a scene as he preached and this later was presented to Richard McDonald who brought the largest number of visitors.

Rev. Fred Antrobus, pastor of First Baptist Church, presided and Mrs. J. C. Gilker presided at the organ for the hymns. Mr. Jorgensen, who hails from Minnesota and arrived in the city on Thursday night's train, will participate tomorrow and will be heard nightly next week in his series of revival services.

OPENING ON JUNE 1—

Home For Aged Men at Terrace To Receive Occupants in Early Summer

War-built military hospital for the Canadian Army on the bench overlooking the town of Terrace and the wide expanses of the Skeena River valley is nearing the end of the process of being converted to the purpose of a home for aged men from northern and central British Columbia and is expected to be instituted as such early in June, operated by the Department of Health and Welfare.

Engineering staff are already located and the heating plant is in operation.

The home itself comprises the former main hospital buildings while the former officers' messes are being converted to apartment housing for the staff. The former men's quarters will be a recreation hall.

During the summer the new drab structures will be painted a gleaming white.

Appropriate ground development is also expected to be undertaken.

Advent of summery weather will probably be awaited to commence settling the aged residents who will spend their declining years there. Some will be brought from institutions elsewhere in the province while others will be entering such an establishment for the first time.

MODEL GAS TURBINE — Ideas for gas turbine development in Canada were given a visual form by Seymour Levine, McGill University graduate, who constructed this scale model in wood of a 1,200-horsepower engine. Shown here examining the model is Prof. Donald L. Mordell whose teachings on the subject prompted Levine to build the turbine. The figure of a man at the control panel gives an idea of size relationship. (C.P. Photo)

Canadians Win Fortunes On Sweep

Drama-Music Feast Ends

Final Day Replete With Enjoyment From Morning to Night

The last day of the Music and Drama Festival provided another feast of enjoyment—morning, noon and night.

In the morning session at the Civic Centre one class in piano-forte and classes in violin were heard.

In the class of pianoforte for children under 12 years, six little girls—Norma Johnsen, Jacqueline Mary Johnson, Myrna Knutsen, Gail Reopah, Marian Smith and Ellen Roper—performed. Top honors in this class went to Ellen Roper with Myrna Knutsen and Marian Smith close behind.

Of the violin playing Mr. Bligh said that it was very gratifying to know there is some very fine work on this instrument in Prince Rupert. The violin is a very difficult instrument but the adjudicator awarded marks of over 80 to all contestants. Playing in these classes were Richard Forward, Murray Boas, Donald McLeod, Elaine Steffen and Robert Jensen.

Mr. Bligh praised the contestants for their clean playing, good tone, and phrasing. The violinists showed good feeling for expressive values and their good approach showed fine teaching.

Besides playing in the violin solo classes Robert Jensen and Murray Boas performed two violin duets in which they achieved a well-balanced tone between their instruments and displayed a nice feeling for rhythm.

At the afternoon session in the Capitol Theatre sweet childish voices were heard as the school choirs presented their numbers.

Little Grade One pupils from King Edward School performed charming little singing games. Mr. Bligh commented that these were excellent training for little ones because they stimulate interest in singing. He congratulated the teachers on this work and also the teacher of the Grade Two choir from King Edward School for the singing of "Dutch Dance" by that group.

In the Grade Three class two choirs were heard. In singing "A Poor Little Dog" Conrad School children achieved expressive singing and good rhythm and their words were excellent. King Edward School choir sang "Indian Lullaby" sweetly and with sincerity and in a nice mood that achieved the real feeling of a lullaby.

Two Grade Four choirs, one from Conrad School and one from King Edward School sang the test piece "The Ladybird" plus a selection of their own choosing. Conrad School choir had a good opening and nice lilt and were again commended for good words. Although the King Edward School choir sang without accompaniment the seconds kept in pitch and the tempo was good.

King Edward School entered choirs in both the Grade Five and Grade Six classes. The Grade Five children sang "Sweet Afton" and "Ash Grove." The Grade Six children sang "Dainty Little Maiden" and "Whispering."

NE WHAZELTON CHOIR

An outstanding choral presentation was given by a small choir from New Hazelton. The children were of different ages and grades but they gave a very appealing performance and achieved a beautiful restrained quality of tone. The adjudicator complimented the teacher, Mrs. Parker, on her excellent teaching and intelligent direction and awarded this choir the highest marks of the afternoon.

This same group from New Hazelton contributed a very charming dance number for the afternoon's program. A group of seven little girls in colorful Scottish costume did a Highland fling. They were Barbara Sturney, Gail Dupas, Phyllis Holmes, Darlene Dupas, Patricia Tait, Frances Tingley and Yvonne Willan. Then the first three each did a solo Highland fling. Mr. Bligh commended these girls on the good spacing of the group, their foot work which was always well together, and their fine sense of rhythm.

Later in the afternoon three little Prince Rupert girls contributed delightful dance numbers. Sharon Skinner, daintily costumed, performed a waltz clog making a good entrance and was praised for her excellent rhythm and clever foot work.
