Miniscences and Reflections

According to the Labor Review, bricklayers in the United States are drawing $14.196 annually. Providing prudence and caution are not neglected a fellow might be able to struggle along reasonably well.

Harry Truman used to sell gentlemen's clothing, and failed. However, in his recent travels through the United States, not the slightest fault could be found with his window dressing.

With the United States election out of the way, a rash of Canadian elections off the cards and party leaders picked, the French coal strike settled again, the west coast shipping tangle nearly straightened out and a thoughtful gaze at the juvenile delinquency exercise, perhaps we can all settle down soon and

PILOTS OF BAHAMAS PLANE MISHAP—Twenty-three of the DC-3 Douglas airliner which made a belly landing on a small Bahamas island after running out of gas while en route to San Juan, Puerto Rico, from Peterboro, N.J., are landing at Miami, Fla., in a coast guard life raft. They were rescued from the island by two coast guard rescue amphibious planes. The airplane was on a charter flight with 20 Bahamians returning home from New York, and a crew of

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make an indelible stencil ink?
A. Mix 2 parts of sulphate of manganese, 1 part lampblack, 4 parts sugar (all in powder form). Then make a paste by adding a little water.

Q. How can I make window sashes stay clean for a longer time?
A. Add a little vinegar to the water when cleaning the windows and they will remain clean much longer. And a little bluing added to the water will produce more brilliancy.

Q. How can I remedy soup that has become too salty?
A. Put a few pieces of toasted bread in the soup for a few minutes, then remove, and the bread will have absorbed much of the salt.

If the dominion and provinces can get together on this trans-Canada highway business, it will be of immense value and advantage. This is a hard country to become familiar with. Millions live and die in Canada without ever going further away than to church. Consequently, some folks become more narrow than a corkscrew. The more her people meet and mingle, the more they mix and see where and how others live and what they are thinking of, the better for everyone.

ROMANCE IS CULMINATED

Petite Australian Girl Arrives to Marry American

VANCOUVER—A romance between a tall American and a blonde, petite, Australian girl that started in Brisbane, Australia, during wartime and has been kept alive since 1944 by correspondence will be happily culminated in Vancouver when Joan Dredge of Irswich, Queensland, and Clifford Phelps of Reedley, Cal., are married within the next two or three days, following her arrival at Vancouver Airport on a British Commonwealth Pacific Air Lines plane. The marriage, it is hoped by the couple, will be the act that will permit Joan to enter the United States and take up permanent residence with her husband.

The couple first met in Australia when Clifford was an aero engine mechanic with the U.S. Air Transport Command and were separated by his return to the United States in 1944. At that time, and since, the girl could not enter the U.S.A. because of immigration quota restrictions on the entry of single persons. The six-foot three-inch California boy discovered that it might be possible to bring Joan into the States as his wife, however, and they decided to marry in Canada.

The next step will be to obtain a visitor's permit from the American Consul here and then a permanent visa when they have become established in their new home deep in the San Joaquin Valley, about 200 miles from San Francisco. He has already arranged a marriage license with court house officials here.

On a month's vacation from his job as an automotive mechanic, Clifford motored to Vancouver and met the girl yesterday as she stepped from the B.C.P.A. plane from Australia. They plan a quiet ceremony for the wedding and will remain here until her visitor's permit is forthcoming, then return to Reedley, California.

ROYALTY AT BOOK EXHIBITION — Queen Elizabeth and her daughter, Princess Margaret Rose, were among the visitors to the exhibition of French books recently opened in London. They are examining a 13th century volume, "Psalter of St. Louis," which is now being shown for the first time outside of France. The women of the royal family have long been noted for 'distinctive hats.' These two seem to follow the line. Princess Margaret's is held on with a beneath-the-chin veil.

VANDERBILT AND BRIDE — Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., 50, writer and scion of one of America's distinguished families, is shown in New York with his bride, the former Mrs. Patricia Murphy Wallace, 28, of Los Angeles. It was the fifth marriage for Vanderbilt and the second for Mrs. Wallace.

Mrs. E. H. Hicks of this city, while crossing the Atlantic Ocean recently aboard the liner Aquitania, made the acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Waldorf, former residents of Prince Rupert, who left this city for Vancouver in 1930. Mr. Waldorf was on his way to Oxford, England, to undergo an operation for cancer of the throat. Mrs. Waldorf, while travelling, was still convalescing from the effects of a broken leg. In conversation such old timers here as George Frizzell and J. A. Lindsay were mentioned.

Mrs. Hicks is visiting near Bath, England, not far from one of the old Roman roads.

VANDERHOOF

Dan Fraser of Fort St. James is a patient in St. John's Hospital here suffering from a broken leg.

Kinsmen's Club and Parent-Teachers' Association joined on Saturday night to entertain the young folk of Vanderhoof with a Halloween jamboree in the Legion Hall. A masquerade was featured and many prizes were offered.
