Big Tourist Year Coming

Barring the possibility of war, tourist traffic to Alaska next year should reach a heavy volume, comparable with any previous year, says W. G. Connolly, passenger traffic manager, Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg, who is a visitor in the city today. Reports of advance bookings from all agencies in the United States are very encouraging and suggest no diminution of traffic.

The steamer Prince George is scheduled to make her first voyage of the season on the Alaska tourist route, arriving here June 18, with the possibility of pre-season special trips with the annual parties of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and Portland Journal.

Mr. Connolly arrived in the city on the Prince George this morning from Vancouver and leaves by the evening train for his headquarters in Winnipeg.

Canadians Reach Korea

Greeted in Pusan by Natives Waving Hand-Made Flags

PUSAN—Greeted by a few natives waving home-made Canadian flags and bands playing swing tunes, vanguard of Canada's special brigade landed in Korea yesterday.

The American transport James O'Hara brought the contingent—about 350 strong—to this South Korean supply port from Yokohama after a two-day trip.

The advance party is led by Major R. M. Bourgeois and includes specialists such as cooks, clerks, drivers and tradesmen. They drove in convoy through dirty streets to billets in three old school buildings. Later they will take out training areas for other members of the special brigade expected later this month.

The troops looked fit and stood the trip well.

Continuing To Resist

OTTAWA—Madame Germaine Poinso-Chapuis, the first woman cabinet minister in France, in a press conference here told of the continued resistance to the Nazis after the French armistice in 1940.

She was the first Frenchwoman to hold a cabinet post in Paris as minister of public health and population in the Schuman ministry in 1947.

Now she is vice-president of the French National Assembly, a post equivalent to that of deputy speaker of the Canadian House of Commons. She is one of 31 women members in the assembly.

An active member of the resistance movement during the Second World War, she is a lawyer by profession, having become a member of the bar at the age of 20. She is interested in all social welfare questions and has been instrumental in drafting legislation dealing particularly with child welfare.

Madame Poinso-Chapuis declared emphatically that she was never able to accept the armistice of 1940. It was after this point in France's history she organized the escape and camouflage of Jewish refugees and began participating in resistance activities.

As a result she was named representative of the National Liberation Movement to the majority of Marseilles after the liberation.

In addition to her work in welfare, Madame Poinso-Chapuis has taken part in all movements which championed the cause of women's right to vote and the improvement of conditions of women in industry.

Toronto Will Hear Kaufman Symphony

WINNIPEG—Walter Kaufmann, conductor of Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, says composing music isn't like baking a cake—it has to be done when the idea is there and the mood is right.

Mr. Kaufmann's compositions have been played in Canada, the United States, Britain and Europe for more than 20 years. He has been writing music since he was a child in his native Czechoslovakia. His Fifth Symphony, he named it "Sinfonietta," because it is very short—will be played by Toronto Symphony Orchestra November 7 and 8.

This is how Mr. Kaufmann describes his method of composition:

"First you get an idea and then the mood sinks in. Then you try to find a means of expressing this mood, which is the hardest thing to do. You keep trying and trying, but sometimes the music just doesn't fit."

"This may go on for months, weeks or years until you find the right thing. And when you do, the rest is easy. The technical part comes next and you just write it on paper."

Two of Mr. Kaufmann's newer compositions have been inspired by Manitoba's wide expanse of land, seemingly endless roads and the changing prairie skies. One is called "Pembina Highway," for the road leading from Winnipeg to the international boundary; the other "Four Skies."

The composer says writing music is his first love. But he adds: "You have to be a millionaire to live by it alone."

Ship Bonus To Australia Out

OTTAWA—The Canadian government will not grant a subsidy to keep the present passenger steamship service operating between Canada and Australia, an authoritative informant said yesterday. Requests for such a subsidy have been under consideration for some time but the informant said there was no chance of one being granted.

Speculation that there might be such a subsidy has led to the report this week that the liner Aorangi might not be withdrawn permanently from the Canadian-Australian run. The vessel is about to make her final voyage.

No Information On Warehouse

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has received an answer from Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, to a letter sent him in regard to the possibility of saving the former United States Army warehouse on the local waterfront from demolition. Retain Majority In Congress But Only By Slimmest Lead

Many Prominent Administration Leaders Go Down to Defeat

NEW YORK (CP)—Democrats kept numerical control of Congress by the thinnest of margins today. They were stunned and battered by Republican election successes which challenged both home and foreign policies of President Truman.

Bowling over top administration leaders, the Republicans captured a net of five Senate seats in yesterday's voting. This boosted the party's Senate line-up in the upcoming 82nd Congress to 47 against the Democrats' 49.

With 25 contests still to be decided, the Republicans had gained 25 places to raise their total in the House to 187. The Democrats held 222 or four more than the 218 needed for control. One Independent won in Ohio.

U.N. Forces Gain Again

SEOUL—A great armada of Allied planes today blasted North Korea all along the Red China frontier in an effort to stop Chinese reinforcements.

Six hundred Allied war planes pounded the border arteries as air observers reported "very heavy traffic" rolling across Manchuria toward Korea. Seven hundred vehicles were spotted south of the border and headed for the North Korea front lines.

United Nations forces gained on all fronts. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters clamped a news blackout of what is happening between the Communist front and the border. What the Reds' next move will be remains a mystery.

On the Northwest Korean fighting front, Allied troops deployed along the new 60-mile line from Anju beachhead over to the Chongchon River, northwest to Pakchon, then eastward to Yongdong.

Elements of the U.S. Third Infantry Division landed at the port of Wosan to reinforce east coast positions.

U.S. jets met Russian-built jets in an historic air battle. The American F-80 Shooting Star shot down a Soviet made Mig-15 as the planes zipped at better than 600 miles per hour.

Coalition Is Due To Break

VANCOUVER—Political signs are construed here as definitely pointing to a possible end of the Coalition government in British Columbia before the provincial election in 1953. The probability became all the more obvious when Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said in an address: "We may be going into the next election as a straight Conservative party without any alliance with the Liberal party in any way."

The Coalition was formed in 1941 when Liberals and Progressive Conservatives joined in a move against the CCF and Socialist program. The then Premier, T. D. Pattullo, refused to accept a coalition and John Hart became Premier to be succeeded, when he resigned, by Byron Johnson.
