SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Only two passenger liners will be operated this summer by the C.F.R.'s British Columbia Coast Steamship Service on the Alaska tourist run. They will be the Princess Kathleen and the Princess Louise. After having been served during the winter by the freighters Yukon Princess and Cassiar, Alaska will be getting back the passenger ship Princess Norah next month to be replaced by the Princess Louise in May.

There was good co-operation among the cast and good acting. Proceeds from the two night's performance, said Rev. P. H. Mallet, will go for interior decorating of the church.

Francois Lake

Several car loads of Francois Lake people went to the Colley-mountain dance on Saturday and had a good time.

Since the weather turned colder again, it has been easier for cars to cross the lake ice as they do not sink into the deep snow as they did when it was thawing.

It was so cold for three days that there was no school.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Van Zanten entertained a number of ladies and children in honor of Mrs. Van Zanten's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Sholander, and Mrs. Ken Rensby. After a social time and some amusing and interesting contests the hostess served a delicious lunch assisted Mrs. Coyle.

There is still a little cleaning being done at the seed cleaning plant.

Mrs. John Scott and family and Mrs. Steve Marcy and Bobby spent the week-end at the Emerald-Glacier mine.

Mrs. J. Henkel is now staying with the Mummy family in Burns Lake. She expects to spend a few days at the Keefe home before going to Vancouver for the rest of the winter.

The Jeffrey boys are now away logging for Earl Hanke at Nadina.

There was a Fair board meeting at the Snyder ranch Tuesday evening.

John Keefe has been hauling the pilings across the lake behind his tractor for the new wharf at Southbank.

Bob Morris is now working at Tahtsa.

Captain Wallace To Lady Nelson

MONTREAL—Appointments of Capt. Neil J. Roach, O.B.E., as assistant marine superintendent, Canadian National Steamships, and Capt. D. C. Wallace, O.B.E., D.S.C., as master of the "Lady Nelson" to succeed him were announced today by Capt. R. A. Clark, general manager of the company.

Capt. Roach will replace Capt. P. A. Kelly, O.B.E., who has resigned from the company after serving as assistant marine superintendent for the past nine years.

(Capt. Wallace, new master of the Lady Nelson, was naval officer in charge at Prince Rupert for a time during World War II.)

The average Canadian factory worker earns the price of a loaf of bread from 8 minutes work; in 1939 it took 12 minutes work.

Canada's production of crude oil last year was almost four times greater than ten years ago.

Commercial Air Ace Returning

One of the commonwealth's commercial air aces, W. S. (Bill) May, formerly Senior Captain and Officer-in-Charge of Training with British Overseas Airways Corporation, has accepted the appointment of Chief Pilot with Queen Charlotte Airlines.

W. S. (BILL) MAY
Chief Pilot

Captain May, who recently retired from the famed BOAC after sixteen years' service, started his flying career as a bush pilot in Winnipeg in 1931. Joining Imperial Airways in London five years later he was engaged in flying their European Service between the capitals of Belgium, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary and Switzerland. With the opening of the Empire routes in 1937, he captained airliners which flew routes between such colorful centres as Alexandria, Singapore, and Durban, and across the Middle East, central Asia, India and the east coast of Africa.

After the outbreak of war Captain May was transferred to Montreal for the operation of Liberator Aircraft on the return ferry service across the Atlantic, which he has crossed a near-record number of times, 260 in all.

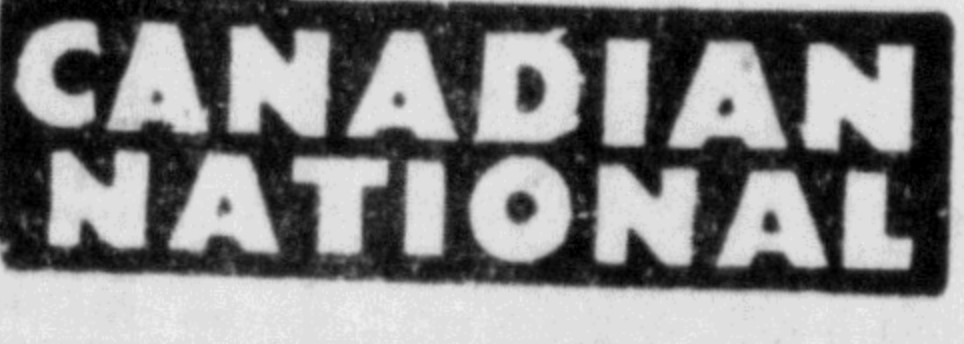

During his sixteen years with BOAC (in the course of flying over 2 million miles), Captain May hung up some records which still stand. Included in these is the highest freight load ever carried across the Atlantic—24,000 lbs. gross. His experience in emergency flight operations ranges from command of the Air Service from Eastern Canada to Winnipeg during the disastrous 1950 flood, to special trips to Abadan, Iran, to evacuate women and children during the oil crisis last year.

"Oh! Susanna" Thrill Film

Exciting battles between Sioux Indians, United States cavalrymen and gold-mad invaders of the Black Hills of Dakota provide thrilling action in "Oh Susanna," feature picture for this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

One of the top members of the cast is Canadian-born Rod Cameron who plays the part of a cavalry captain who has a bitter feud with Forrest Tucker, his commanding officer. Both of them have their romantic sights on Adrian Booth, singer in a gambling house. Chill Wills is a rugged cavalry sergeant.

In defiance of a treaty with the Sioux, increasing numbers of opportunists are attempting to move into the Black Hills country in search of gold. Cameron has things well in hand until the commanding officer leads the garrison into a massacre. Then there is a desperate defence of the post but surrender is inevitable. The Indians, however, know that the captain has endeavored to enforce the treaty and he and the remainder of his party are permitted to leave in safety.

The picture is in color. Following the massacre of General Custer and his cavalry, Chief Sitting Bull and his Sioux warriors spent years in refuge in Canada.
