Army-Air Force Plan Operation In Quebec

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's army and air force announced plans today to stage large-scale airborne operations this winter across the snow-packed reaches of northeastern Quebec.

In a joint announcement the army's Quebec command and the RCAF's tactical air command in Edmonton said nearly 5,000 men will take part in the training exercise scheduled for late February in the Sept Iles, Que., and Labrador areas.

Called exercise Loup-Garou, the manoeuvres will pit the 1st battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment and the other auxiliary troops against an attacking force made up of A company of the 2nd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment.

Five regular and two auxiliary air force squadrons drawn from Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta will carry troops into action and provide air cover for striking and defending forces.

WINTER TRAINING

Army spokesmen said the exercise is not intended to test Canada's northern defences, but is part of the winter training of the armed forces. They said it will also give command staffs an opportunity to work together on joint planning of Arctic air-ground strikes.

Troops will camp out in tents and will be on field rations, while aircraft will be serviced in the open.

The operation will be fought over some of the roughest and most desolate terrain in Canada. The heavily-wooded country, until recently deserted except for the occasional trapper or prospector, is also the scene of the huge mining development of the Iron Ore Company of Canada, 350 miles north of Knob Lake. Directing the exercise will be Maj.-Gen. J. P. Bernatchez, officer commanding Quebec army command. Air Commodore S. W. Coleman, air officer commanding the tactical air command, will be the assistant director.

LONDON (CP)—Stevadores unloading bananas from a South American ship were startled to discover a deadly snake in the hold. Made sluggish by the cold, the snake was quickly bagged and shipped off to a zoo.

Swiss Form Merchant Fleet With Full Maritime Code

By JOHN MYRES
 BERNE (Reuters)—Neutral Switzerland has created a 36-ship national merchant fleet designed to assure her essential overseas supply lines in case of a third world war.

A full maritime code for the new fleet has been approved by the federal assembly and will come into force Jan. 1.

Among the main conditions for registering an ocean-going ship as Swiss, with the right to fly the Swiss flag, are that the owners must be Swiss and have their head office in Switzerland. All shareholders in an owning company must be Swiss and at least three-quarters of them, representing three-quarters of the total capital, must be resident in Switzerland. Basle, the main Swiss port on the Rhine, is the only port of
