QUEBEC PLAYER PONDER'S LENGTH OF PRO CONTRACT

MONTREAL (C)—Jean (Gros Bill) Beliveau, rated Canada's top pro-hockey prospect, is pondering how long a contract he should seek if he decides to join Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Beliveau, 21-year-old star forward with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League conferred with Frank Selke, general manager of Canadiens, amid reports that the Aces are prepared to pay him $100,000 over the next five years to remain in Quebec.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Meek, A Safety Artist, Expects The Worst—Wins

Mr. Meek makes more safety plays than anyone he plays with. By nature he expects the very worst to happen and he is therefore more alert than others to the need for precautionary measures. Mr. Champion even accuses him of being disappointed when finesses work for him and suits break out favorably.

Anyway, he brought home his four spade contract in today's deal by a cozy play in the trump suit. The ten of hearts was opened and Mr. Champion won with the ace and returned the suit, putting Mr. Meek in with the king.

Mr. Meek started worrying immediately. He had an urge to bang down the ace and another trump so the opponents couldn't ruff anything. He overcame this temptation, however, in the face of what he considered to be a greater danger—a bad break in the trump suit itself.

In the usual safety play of a trump suit you give up one trick you might have won to avoid or reduce your chance of losing two.

Mr. Meek decided the only way he could go set was to find all four outstanding trumps in one opponent's hand. If Mr. Champion had the lone king or queen, the play of the ace of spades first would hold the trump losers to one.

But he forgot about that enticing possibility. He decided to be willing to lose two tricks to avoid the chance of losing three. At trick three he led a low spade from his hand toward the jack. From here on the defense had no chance to beat the contract.

Mr. Abel went in with the queen, the five was played from the board and Mr. Champion showed out.

Mr. Meek won the club return with the ace and led another low spade. Mr. Abel could do no better than win with the king.

He returned another club which dummy's king won. The jack of spades was cashed and Mr. Meek then re-entered his hand by ruffing a club to lay down the ace of trumps and spread the rest of his cards.
