BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

End-Play Good Trick Getter

Just glancing at the cards in today's deal, it seems certain that Mr. Champion will have to lose two hearts and two diamonds. But, using that wonderful trick getter, the end-play, he managed to make his contract.

Mr. Abel led the trey of hearts and Miss Brash won with the ace. Realizing she was on lead for the last time, she returned the five of diamonds. Mr. Champion went up with the ace and noted Mr. Abel's play of the queen. This, he hoped, indicated a holding of the king-queen doubleton.

He laid down the ace and king of spades and on the second spade Mr. Abel discarded a small heart. He now played the queen of hearts and Mr. Abel was in with the king.

SEES DANGER
The king of diamonds was cashed, but then Mr. Abel had nothing left but hearts and clubs. If he led a heart, Mr. Champion could ruff on the board and throw the losing diamond from his hand.

Mr. Abel recognized this danger and decided to return the eight of clubs, hoping Miss Brash held the jack. But Mr. Champion had that card and he ducked the club lead in dummy and won in his own hand. He then picked up the last outstanding trump, finessed the queen of clubs and parked his last diamond on the ace. Thus he lost only two hearts and a diamond.

COULD SQUIRM OUT
It wasn't easy to see, but Mr. Abel could have squirmed out of the trap. If he had returned the king of clubs instead of a low club, Mr. Champion would have been held to two tricks in that suit.

Thistles Win Third Straight

TOKYO (CP)—Kenora Thistles tonight defeated a Japan all-star team 11-2 for the Canadians' third straight win of their Japanese tour.

The western Canada intermediate champions scored two goals in the first period, three in the second and six in the third.

Ray Westland and Sam Robertson each accounted for three of the Kenora goals while Murray Robertson scored two and Ken Robertson, Lorne Johnson and Phil Creed each scored one.

On winning with dummy's ace, he could have returned to his hand with a low club to the jack. But then there would have been no way to return to the board to cash the queen. Miss Brash's jack of spades ruined the chance of reaching dummy with a trump lead. And at the end Mr. Champion would have had to concede a diamond trick.
