

Many Attend Opening Of Library

TERRACE. — Terrace Public Library opened its doors to the public last Saturday.

The opening was held in the room allocated to the library in the new Provincial building on Lakeside Avenue and was attended by many interested citizens.

Miss Jeanette Sargent, branch librarian of the Public Library Commission at Prince George was in attendance representing the Public Library Commission and assisting in the opening details.

Mr. L. D. Leighton, chairman of the board of directors of the library board was the first speaker. He gave a general outline of the work of the board since its inauguration last October and introduced members of the board as follows: Mrs. Howard Harper, secretary; Rev. E. C. Dukelow, Mrs. P. Van Heek, W. J. Havelaar and Vern Harper.

Greetings were read from Mr. C. K. Morrison, superintendent of the Public Library Commission at Victoria, Mr. Dobbie, local government agent and L. Houle, president of the Junior chamber of Commerce.

Miss Sargent gave a brief outline of her part in the library work at Prince George. Mr. G. Lambly, representing the village commissioners cut the ribbon which marked the official opening of the library room.

Others speaking briefly were Mr. Mackin for the school board and Mr. T. Rose, board of trade. Mrs. W. R. Wellings is to act as librarian with the following assisting as custodians.

Mrs. F. Hall, J. McConnell, A. C. Shindel, F. Clifford, N. Douglas, Wm. Christie and the Misses Pat Pendergast, Mary Little, B. Amdam, Bonnie McColl, E. Loveless, Joan Kennedy and Mary Ann Brandis.

Supplies Moved On 'Free' Road

TOKYO (AP)—The Communists used the attack-free routes of convoys carrying disabled Allied war prisoners to Penang to move many truckloads of war supplies to the battlefront a repatriated U.S. soldier said here.

American reconnaissance pilots who flew over the prisoner-convoys rolling south from the Yalu River reported many trucks on the road. The pilots assumed they were supply trucks.

"On the road down there were quite a few trucks carrying supplies," Pte. Robert W. Fleming of Memphis, Tenn., said in an interview at Tokyo army hospital.

"They were filled with large and small crates. It could have been ammunition or gasoline."

Have you ever tried BAKING with soup? The flavor of many a biscuit, muffin, or hot bread—surprising as the idea may seem—can be stepped up by using canned condensed soup as a liquid.

Down in the deep South, there's a tradition of teaming chicken 'n corn pone. And what a tempting combination it is! Working on the theory that the two flavors are close akin, the Home Economics Department of H. J. Heinz Company, one of Canada's largest soup producers, has developed a corn bread recipe using velvet cream of chicken soup as a binder. The result—a bright yellow bread flecked with tender bits of chicken and echoing the richness of a golden slow-simmered broth. It's a hot bread that rates "A-A" nutrition-wise, too.

CHICKEN-CORN BREAD
1 cup corn meal
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons salad oil or melted shortening
2 eggs, beaten
1 10-ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup, undiluted

Heat oven to 425 F. (hot). Sift together first 5 ingredients. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Add to dry ingredients mixing just enough to moisten. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full or pour into greased 9" x 9" square pan. Bake at 425 F. 25 minutes or until done. Makes 9 muffins or 9 servings.

A can of condensed cream of mushroom soup used instead of the milk produces a biscuit that's perfect with a salad of greens, a vegetable, plate, or scrambled eggs. There's a definite flavor of mushroom here and the kind of tender-mixture that comes from making biscuits with thick cream.

For variation, cream of chicken soup can be substituted for the mushroom.

SALAD BISCUITS
2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons shortening
1 10-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup or cream of chicken soup, undiluted

Heat oven to 450 F. (hot). Sift first 3 ingredients together. Cut in shortening until size of coarse cornmeal. Add soup, stirring quickly until a soft, but not sticky, dough is formed. Turn onto lightly floured board, knead into a smooth ball. Roll or pat to 1/2" thick, cut with 2-inch biscuit cutter. Place on a lightly greased sheet, 1/2-inch apart. Bake at 450 F. 12 to 15 minutes.

Style, Comfort Combined In Outdoor Furniture

By ELENORE LESTER
Sunshine, fresh spring grass, the first blossoms invite us to move out of doors these days—and life out of doors was never so comfortable and attractive.

Gone are the days when a beach chair, and a couple of benches constituted outdoor furniture. The indoor-outdoor living trend has produced furniture that is both practical and beautifully designed.

Metal furniture of all types leads the summer furniture fashion parade. White, black, and green wrought iron look spruce and cool, especially with brightly colored plastic seats. Sharp colors, like coral, lemon yellow and chartreuse look wonderfully gay in the sunshine.

A new woven fiber metal that is rust-proof and comes in green, bronze or yellow is used for a group of dining and seating pieces. The frames of chairs and tables are of black steel, and the table top is made of wood-grain laminated plastic.

Black and white metal mesh are used in many convenient tea carts, serving tables and card table groupings. One dining group combines a birch table and birch chair backs with wrought iron legs.

HIGH STYLES CLASS
Redwood and rattan are also getting into the high style class. Many of these pieces of furniture will be part of living and dining rooms as well as rumpus rooms during the winter. News in the redwood and rattan size.

places is the use of wrought iron legs on chairs, sofas and benches. One of the beauties of this furniture is its comparative inexpensiveness. For $50 or $60 you can have a highly attractive dinette set. For $50 you can get a whole rattan living suite, consisting of a small sofa, two chairs and an ottoman. Upholstered rattan is more expensive but still reasonable considering the additional comfort it offers.

Half the fun of being out of doors in the spring and summertime is dining there. Many new accessories make this delightful summer custom more enjoyable. There are barbecue grills on which you can cook a full meal, and they sell for as little as $49.95. One unit, which has two adjustable fireboxes, electric motor-driven spits, a steak broiler, an earthenware dish and sauce containers and two wooden cutting boards, sells for about $85.95.

One of the most wonderful new accessories for summer serving is a portable refrigerator and serving cart which may be wheeled about the house. Tri-cycle wheels and tubular steel handle bars make wheeling this refrigerator a simple matter, and a handy tray across the top eases the serving problem.

The folks who don't plan to go in for such elaborate comfort this summer can enjoy their cool drinks from picnic jugs and parting buckets which sell for about eight dollars, depending on size.

Sixty-Seven Children Treated

Dental Clinic Continues Good Work

Reports of the secretary-treasurer Frank Derry to the monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Children's Preventive Dental Clinic on Tuesday indicated the good work being done by the clinic for the younger children in the schools.

At present the capacity for such treatments has been reached and further plans will have to be considered to take care of future cases.

The report showed that in the two months from February 25 a total of 67 children had been treated and 44 had been completed in 31 sessions.

There are a few points that parents are not clear about. The coverage offered by the clinic does not take care of cases that require hospitalization or anaesthesia. And all appointments must be made through the secretary-treasurer.

Gratification was expressed at the financial support given by the organizations listed below, Borden Street School P.T.A., King Edward School P.T.A. and Conrad Street School P.T.A., Edinburgh Chapter I.O.D.E. and the Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E., Trades and Labor Council, Sul-phite and Paper Mill Operators, Association, International Union of Operating Engineers and one forthcoming from the City of Prince Rupert.

Value of the work done through the clinic is considered of vital importance by the local Health Unit, and the contribution to the future health and happiness of the growing citizens can hardly be over-estimated, said one member.

Next meeting, on the last Tuesday of May, will be a general meeting to which representatives of all contributing organizations and others interested are invited.
