THE KNEE-PAD LEAGUE
 Are you a member of the Knee-pad League? You may not be conscious of it, but if you ride out on your right knee, or if you find the right knee trouser is black and dirty after a game, you can qualify easily for membership in this organization.

The Knee-pad League is strictly a "pushers" organization. The knee pad is worn to protect wear and punishment inflicted on that much-abused joint. Too many young curlers push out from the back, ride on the right knee, then deliver the rock from a semi-sitting position on the ice. No, it is not their fault, entirely, because they are copying Uncle Bill or an inclination to seek the safety of a sit-down position before they deliver the stone.

This delivery is orthodox in many communities, and it has been copied, too, by would-be sliders who give themselves a violent thrust out of the back, then, rather than risk the precarious pose of a natural slide delivery, they slump to the ice, using the right knee as a ski, then administer a second push to send the stone on its way. This type of stone propulsion is not a thing of beauty to watch, but it gives the party concerned a sense of security, and, I suppose, a certain feeling of satisfaction that he too is sliding with the best of them.

It is a crying shame to see young men all over the country putting their individual interpretations on the sliding delivery. If in any way, I have been guilty of these many contortions that are taking the name of sliding in vain, I hope that these articles will bring more clarification to any disillusioned minds.

BLACKWOOD ON Bridge
 by EASLEY BLACKWOOD
 Stars on Gamble But Thinks His Way Through

Mr. Dale gambled a little when he bid three no trump and, as you see, he was wide open in the diamond suit. He made up for this deficiency by a clever play which would have worked against a far more experienced player than Mr. New.

The opening lead was the six of spades. The four went on from dummy and Mr. Masters played his lone jack. The queen would have won the trick, but Mr. Dale promptly played his ace.

The apparently silly play was based on the following considerations. It was clear that the club suit had to be brought in if nine tricks were to be taken. That meant the lead would have to be kept to the enemy as Mr. New, having overcalled, probably had the king of clubs.

What would Mr. New return after winning his supposed club trick? A diamond was the most likely shift if he thought a spade continuation was hopeless. And if Mr. Dale won the first trick with the queen of spades, then he would be marked with the ace, too, and in that case a shift by Mr. New would be clearly indicated.

However, when the ace of spades won the first trick, Mr. New naturally placed the queen with Mr. Masters.

At trick two Mr. Dale led the

Army Operation 'Justified'
Says Statement

SEOUL (U.S. headquarters) have defended "Operation Smack" as fully justified, well planned but imperfectly executed.

Last Sunday's 150-man raid on the western front, witnessed by field commanders and newspapermen, "was in no way designed as a demonstration for spectator benefit," said a three-page statement from headquarters of retiring commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

In Washington, the chairman of the Congressional Armed Services Committee agreed after reading secret military reports that the operation "was necessary for tactical reasons."

Headquarters said three U.S. 7th Division men were killed and 61 wounded while attacking "enemy installation which threatened our forces."

War correspondents had been carefully briefed and handed detailed time-tables bound in three-color covers prior to an air-artillery-tank-infantry assault on a feature known as Spud Hill.
