AGAIN the Royal heads north to new industrial frontiers

For over two years the Royal Bank has provided on-the-spot service for the men tunnelling and bulldozing, building dams and transmission lines for the gigantic "Alcan" project on B.C.'s rugged coast. At Kemano, 400 miles north of Vancouver, and at work sites back of the coastal mountains, the Royal Bank has had its branches almost from the beginning.

Now, as the smelter and port are readied for operation, and the new "Aluminum City" of Kitimat emerges from the wilderness, the Royal Bank's Kitimat branch opens for business. So another page turns in the story of Canada's northward expansion, and in the pioneering record of The Royal Bank of Canada.

Elsewhere, too, the Royal has moved forward to new frontiers. Already two branches are operating in Alberta's important new Pembina oil field. And at Port Radium, on the fringe of the Arctic Circle, we maintain the "farthest north" branch bank in Canada.
