3 BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Many Games Are Won With Opponent's Help

Many a good play by declarer is successful because of the co-operation of one of the defenders.
 That is to take nothing away from declarer but the fact remains that without the help of the enemy, a great number of attempted end-plays, squeezes, etc. would fail.

You can often take some action that will prevent your partner from being placed in an impossible situation. Mr.
 Abel overlooked an opportunity to do this in today's deal.

He chose the 8 of diamonds for his opening lead and Mr.
 Champion won with the ace and returned the suit. Miss Brash won the second trick and after some thought elected to play as follows.

She cashed the ace and king of clubs and ruffed dummy's last club in her hand. Then she led a low spade. Mr. Abel ducked and dummy's jack won.
 A spade was returned and Mr.
 Abel had to win with the ace.

A club or a diamond return at this point would lose a trick as Miss Brash could ruff in dummy while discarding a heart from her hand. So Mr.
 Abel led the seven of hearts.
 Dummy ducked and Mr. Champion won with the ten of his side's third trick.

But now he was in a hopeless position. As before, a minor suit return would give Miss Brash a sluff and a ruff while a heart return would go into dummy's ace-queen.

"Win the first spade and lead a heart, Abel," said Mr. Champion. "Then if she ducks the heart, I'll win, but I'll have a safe return in my last trump.
 Later I'll win another heart for the setting trick. You co-operated beautifully with Miss Brash in stripping the hand."

"I was afraid you might have the lone king of trumps," Mr.
 Abel explained.

Mr. Champion admitted this was possible, but highly improbable. He pointed out that Miss Brash's stripping out of the clubs before she touched trumps was the tip-off that she was trying for a strip and endplay. I agree with his suggested play which would have taken him off the spot and resulted in the defeat of the contract.
