Rash Bidder Needs Good Dummy Play
 The way Miss Brash bids, she has to be a good dummy player. She displayed that ability in today's deal, making her six club contract in spite of a fine defensive play by Mr. Masters at trick one.

Not wanting to lead away from either of his king-jack combinations, Mr. Abel led the eight of diamonds. The five was played from dummy and Mr. Masters played the four. If he had taken the trick with the king, Miss Brash would have had an easy time. That is, she could have discarded both the queen and seven of hearts on dummy's ace and queen of diamonds later in the hand.

After winning the first trick with the jack of diamonds, she paused to think about her chances. In spite of his lead of the eight of diamonds, Mr. Abel still might have the king.

In that case, a finesse of the queen of that suit would permit the discard of a small heart from the closed hand on the ace of diamonds. The only loser then would be a heart.

But Miss Brash knew Mr. Masters was capable of holding up the king of diamonds in a ticklish situation like this and she decided to try for an end-play on Mr. Abel.

She cashed the ace of clubs and noted Mr. Abel's discard of a spade. Next she led to the
