Soft Ice Halts Telkwa Hockey

TELKWA — Telkwa Pee-Wees and Smithers Pee-Wees played what may be their last game of hockey on slushy ice. The game was called off due to the difficulty in skating with the score 3-1 in favor of the Telkwa boys.

During the last period, when the Smithers players stormed the goal in an effort to score, a close shot was stopped as stout hearted Larry Johnston, goalie of Telkwa, held one between his knees. He was down on all fours when a stick was seen to fly up, striking 11-year-old Larry in the mouth. The whistle blew almost simultaneously but not before two little white teeth lay scattered on the ice.

Just how the accident happened has not been determined. Larry was taken into Smithers for medical attention where it was found the two teeth were broken off at the base and another may have to be removed.

This is the first mishap of a serious nature to occur since hockey started this season and it is regrettable that such an unfortunate accident climaxed a real season of good hockey for the youngsters.

THROUGH THE GATES—Mrs. Rhoda Wurtel Eaves of Montreal is shown as she skimmed through the gates near the finish line of the Olympic women's giant slalom last week at Norefjell, 75 miles northeast of Oslo. Mrs. Eaves finished ninth, the best showing any Canadian skier has made in the 28-year history of the winter games. (CP PHOTO)

Retail Price Wars Still on In U.S., Press Survey Shows

By WALTER BREEDE, JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—Are retail price wars flaring up again in the United States? "Yes," many independent merchants report. "Cut-throat price cutting threatens to drive us out of business."

"Nonsense," scoff other retail experts. "Current pricing policies are following the usual February pattern."

An Associated Press survey of retail price competition in 24 U.S. cities gives this general picture of conditions six months after the bitter price battles of last summer:

Price wars still are going on in several major retail centres. But they're being fought in a different way. It's an unofficial undercover style of warfare, concealed from the buying public but no less real and deadly than the noisy fracas of six months ago.

Why the continued price wars? Small retailers unanimously put the blame of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision last spring which pulled the props from fair trade laws in 45 states. The court's action paved the way for price cutting of nationally-advertised brands.

Faced with heavy inventories and lagging consumer demand, many stores are reported still using marked-down branded merchandise as "bait" to attract store traffic. That's the complaint from the small independent merchants. Big stores defend the policy as one which results in lower prices to the consumer.

DRUGSTORE CHAIN

Sweets and candies before the 19th century were the monopoly of druggists, who made them to hide the taste of drugs.

2000 Japs Now Back on Coast

VANCOUVER — More than 2000 Japanese have returned to Vancouver since the lifting of the wartime ban that prohibited them from living on the coast.

The estimate was made by a spokesman for the local branch of the Japanese-Canadian Citizens' Association, who said Vancouver Japanese have been moving into the city in a steady flow, setting themselves up largely in small retail businesses.

He said Japanese fishermen have also returned in large numbers to B.C. coastal villages.

Local executive of the association was elected recently by a meeting of more than 200.

New president is Seiji Homma. Other executive posts are held by Dr. Saita, first vice-president; Kinichi Iwata, second vice-president; Mickey Nakashima, general executive secretary; Tamiko Nakamura, recording secretary, and Setsu Takemoto and G. Nakamura, co-treasurers.

International Outlook Better

NEW YORK — Returning to New York yesterday from a visit to his native Norway, Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, could not put his finger on anything definite, yet he felt that the international situation was a little better than a year ago.

Telkwa Carnival Success

Fine Program At Highly Entertaining Affair

TELKWA — Telkwa's first ice carnival proved a financial success as well as providing a good time for all who shared in the fun. Gross receipts amounted to some $900.

The frosty temperature didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the spectators or the merry-makers on the ice, some of them lightly clad, including bunny rabbits, cloths, Fanda bears, cowboys and Barbara Ann Scotts.

Winners in the various children's groups were Jill and Ann McMackin, Paul and Garry Morris, Patty-Ann Mahood, Sharon Thorton, Beverley Dockrill, Vera Hill, Sally Shepherd, Michael Maddigan.

The family group costume prize went to the Langevin family. Adults winning prizes were Miss Margaret Gregerson as a Chinese coolie and Mrs. Les Donaldson for the most original costume.

Larry Johnston was winner of the half mile race and Roy Arnold of Smithers won the men's mile race.

The broom ball session was the highlight of the evening when the women and the men battled it out 1-0 in favor of the ladies who took some rough handling, through reefing and body checking.

Mrs. Art Bates went into the boards, landing on her knees and was helped off the ice, necessitating medical aid later.

The events lined up for the night's program was equally entertaining. The hall was filled to overflowing.

The floor show started at 11 p.m. The Rainbow Revue, under the direction of Miss Yeatman, primary teacher, brought three curtain calls. Their colorful costumes in ballet style made an attractive scene.

Mrs. Rolly Cammock gave a professional touch to the program when she spiralled out on the floor in a fast tap dance, in an attractive costume.

Sharon Thorton and Beverley Dockrill teamed up for a ballet number and the Bradley sisters gave a South Sea version of hula dancing.

Dancing continued until 4 o'clock in the morning, ending one of the most entertaining events ever to be staged in Telkwa.

NO STOMACH—Egg flips are just the thing for a man without a stomach, says Capt. Bill Haining, Vancouver Master Mariner. The captain's stomach was removed in Montreal recently and he is on a soft food diet. (CP PHOTO)
