TOMMY BOULTER and "DOM" DOMINATO are quite reluctant to talk about the splendid luck they enjoyed over a recent weekend in Terrace. They shared a catch of eight fresh-run steelhead from the Copper River.

BOB ARMSTRONG not nearly so reticent. He is anxious to tell the world just how he whipped a 15-pound Cloyah fighter. All the fine points on "how to do it" may be had for the asking.

The female of the species are in the news again. Reports from upriver tell of the large mosquitoes already feeding on human gore and from around Telkwa comes news of a second treeing by moose of a well-known logger of that district.

This time no fewer than three cow moose ganged up on the guy and kept him aloft several hours. Don't ever believe that this stunt is only pulled by the bulls. Your columnist's experience is that the cows are much oftener the guilty ones. The reason? From close observation I would say that the bull feels forlorn and incomplete when his antlers have dropped. He acts disconsolate and crestfallen and lacks the usual masculine pugnacity, and is content to hang around close to the cows all winter. Comes this time of year when his new antlers are well started but tender, he seeks no trouble. This condition pertains until early next fall when his masculinity again becomes assertive and he seeks outlet. The cows right now are beginning to notice the weight of their unborn calves, they have had to put up with the annoyance of dogs, coyotes and wolves during the deep snow time. Most of the bulls have already headed into higher pastures leaving the cows without the security of their numbers and the cows no longer feel like getting up and clearing out every time somebody goes by. Consequently some luckless traveler gets treed by thoroughly annoyed cow moose every spring.

This thing I have seen so many times. Living among moose in winter pasture, one gets to recognize individual animals, to see the differences in temperament, to notice how certain animals move off grudgingly if at all when approached or disturbed, and to learn that the antlerless bull is invariably inoffensive. So what with cow moose and biting female mosquitoes it seems to be a woman's world after all.

Ontario is now out with the policy of no bounties for predatory animals and birds. That makes the trend pretty well Canada-wide, as it should be!

This column thinks that this year's salmon derby should not be confined to Rod & Gun club members, since this would force visiting anglers into two payments and perhaps licence fees as well. Furthermore, the very occasional angler might not consider himself of club membership calibre, yet be willing to chip in for his chance at a prize. Let 'em all come!

In case there are some who worry and wonder as to the welfare of the patients at Miller Bay, and whether they will be ill-affected by the noise of shooting at the newly acquired club grounds at Oliver Lake, let it be known that official shooting noise tests were made and satisfactorily passed before the lease was granted.

Sometimes Declarer Must Postpone Leading Trumps

If you are looking for a way to drive your partner out of his mind, I suggest the following. Fail to pick up all of the outstanding trumps and have an opponent ruff in to defeat an otherwise ice-cold contract.

Of course there are times when partner will hate you because you do clear the trump suit at your first opportunity. That is, there are a number of situations where the declarer must postpone leading trumps and today's hand illustrates one of them—the case where the trumps in dummy must be preserved as vital entries.

Mr. Meek led the jack of hearts, dummy and Mr. Abel played low. Mr. Muzzy won with the ace. He promptly cashed the ace of spades. Then realizing suddenly that he was going to have to do something about setting up dummy's diamonds, he switched to the deuce of that suit.

Mr. Meek ducked and dummy's queen won. There was no way for Mr. Muzzy to know that the ace was now alone on his left and he faced the problem of returning to his hand for another diamond lead.

If he led to the ace of clubs, he would set up a club loser and that, with two heart losers and the ace of diamonds, would beat him. So he came to his hand with the queen of spades and led his last diamond.

Mr. Meek won and returned the ten of hearts. This won and another heart went to Mr. Abel's king. A club was returned and Mr. Muzzy won with the ace. Now he led a spade to dummy's king and cashed the king of diamonds, sluffing a club. But he still had a club loser and down he went.

Mr. Muzzy should have led a diamond at trick two. Mr. Meek would duck and the queen would win. Now a small spade to the ace and another diamond lead. Mr. Meek would win and, as before, the defenders would cash two hearts and follow with a club lead.

Win with the ace of clubs and lead the queen of spades. When Mr. Meek's 10 drops, the rest of the play falls neatly into place. Overtake with the king of spades, return a small diamond and ruff it high. Next, the four of spades to the eight spot puts dummy in to cash two good diamonds and get rid of both clubs from the closed hand.

Big Fines Set by Australia in Spy Probes

MELBOURNE (U.P.)—Prime Minister Robert Menzies today announced a new system of fines and jail terms directed against anyone obstructing a forthcoming probe into Russia's spy system in Australia.

Wide and unprecedented powers will be granted a royal commission due to open the investigation soon. The probe was set off by evidence given to authorities last month by Vladimir Petrov, third secretary at the Soviet embassy, who broke with communism and was granted political asylum along with his wife.

Menzies, speaking after the Federal Executive Council had approved the commission's terms of reference, said a fine of up to $1,100 will be imposed on a witness who fails to answer a summons to appear for questioning or refuses to be sworn or answer relevant questions.

Any witness giving false evidence would be liable to up to five years' imprisonment. The commission will inquire into whether any persons or organizations in Australia have given information to Russian agents, and if so, what methods were used.

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—The Birmingham civil defence committee decided unanimously Monday to continue its air raid precaution activities despite the local Labor party's demands that the committee be suspended.

The Labor party wants to follow the lead given by Coventry. The Labor-controlled Coventry city council decided civil defence precautions were pointless in view of the power of the H-bomb as shown by the United States tests in the Pacific last March.

JAKE'S ORCHESTRA

IN SPRING A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY . . .

It used to turn to love and poetry but in this day and age, it seems to be love and a jalopy. Lover boys don't seem to be writing poetry any more and, from what we recall of our youth, it's probably just as well.

So now that the sap is beginning to flow, most of the young swains around town seem to have their eyes on some dame, or some jalopy—or both. In either case we wish them luck. We hope they all get both. But about that jalopy—whether you want some old boat to pole around in or one of the sleek newer models, we've got 'em. These and many others to choose from.

NEW PROOF THAT MILLIONS CAN END
THE NEED FOR LAXATIVES

—find relief from constipation this safe, natural way—without the injurious effects of repeated laxative use.

With all the progress of medical science over the past 30 years, authorities say there is no longer any reason why irregularity should be our most widespread human malady.

Now there is a reason for developing the habitual use of harsh laxatives—of dosing with one preparation after another in the vain hope of finding, in some potion or pill, the "secret" of lasting relief.

Long continued study of the problem has shown that one of the most common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And when this is the case, the common-sense correction is to be found not in the drug store but in your food store!

IT HAS LONG BEEN A MEDICALLY RECOGNIZED FACT THAT NATURE HAS PROVIDED, IN THE NATURAL FOODS MEN WERE INTENDED TO EAT, ALL THE ELEMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE LONG AVOIDANCE OF COMMON CONSTIPATION.

One of these elements is natural fibrous bulk, or vegetable cellulose, which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers, or bran, of the whole wheat kernel which, as you know, is lost in modern milling.

Because of the known value of bran in promoting regularity the Kellogg Company has produced a complete, whole bran—with nothing taken away to lessen its effectiveness—sold under the name of Kellogg's All-Bran, the natural laxative cereal. How effective is All-Bran? This has been demonstrated in a series of systematic clinical studies reported in leading medical journals.

In one study, 135 people with known delayed bowel function were given one ounce of All-Bran daily for one week. They were studied clinically and with X-ray with tests made before, during and after they ate the All-Bran.

OF THE 135 PEOPLE, 107 SHOWED DEFINITE CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT IN JUST 7 DAYS.

IN A FOLLOW-UP STUDY, BETTER THAN 6 OUT OF EVERY 7 PATIENTS WHO WERE GIVEN ALL-BRAN IMPROVED.

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage.

When people use these products habitually—in a way that laxative makers never intended—they punish their digestive system in a way that nature never intended. Instead of correcting the cause, they often actually make their condition worse.

If you think you must take a laxative preparation occasionally, do so. But do it wisely. Read the instructions completely. AVOID EXCESSIVE USAGE. But for natural and lasting relief put your trust in nature. Just eat daily a one-ounce serving of All-Bran for breakfast and drink plenty of water.

This All-Bran plan has helped millions to re-establish and to maintain healthful regularity. Why not you?
