This Fish Story Honest Truth

HAMILTON, Pa. (AP)—Troy Morgan, long-time Milton barber and sportsman, claims this fish story is the honest-to-gosh truth.

Morgan was trying his luck on the week-end in a nearby Cumberland county creek when a gust of wind lifted his hat and he carried it to the other side of the creek.

After he spied the hat floating downstream at a rapid, racing pace.

Investigating, he found a 10-lb trout hooked into one of the lines stuck in the battered hat. It was his only catch of the day.

Billy Talbert to Captain U.S. Davis Cup Team

NEW YORK—The 1952 Davis Cup sweepstakes are officially under way with the surprise appointment of Billy Talbert to captain the United States team against Japan in the first round of play at Cincinnati late in July.

Billy might not go all the way to Australia next winter, but this at least gives him a head start.

Contrary to recent custom, the 33-year-old Talbert was not appointed a "non-playing" captain. In the absence of figures to the contrary, Talbert must be the youngest cup captain ever.

High Time We Had a Change

Shields, who was so conscientious in his duties, had plans, and he didn't feel that the easy-going Billy would fit into 'em. He was going to bring back the cup by main force, including calisthenics and wind sprints at daybreak and a big bowl of crackery and milk upon early retirement.

It is doubtful that Talbert could have stood up to this Spartan program, Dave Savitt could not, and he is no Talbert.

So why not give Billy a shot at the big job? His platform, we feel certain, will contain a no-calisthenics plank and a stern ban on rising before breakfast.

He likely would permit Savitt to play both singles and doubles, with or without wind sprints, providing the big fellow had not grown dull from over-sleeping.

The Shield's system didn't win. It's high time we had a change.

Public Hearing On Tennis Court City Parks Bylaw

City council will hold a public hearing on a bylaw which will authorize Prince Rupert Tennis Club to operate the Rotary Club tennis court, to be opened soon on Second Avenue Park.

Council decided this week that the bylaw would have to be passed before such operation could be authorized. Under the Municipal Act, city must advertise for two consecutive days, then hold the hearing of anyone objecting to the move.

Proposal of the tennis club is to operate and maintain the courts and that players must be club members or guests.

Council view is that Parks board at present has not the funds to operate courts as a public facility and that in order to maintain the courts, they should come under jurisdiction of an organized body.

Premier Nine Stewart Drubs

STEWART — On Sunday the Premier boys again took a shot at the local ball players but just couldn't quite make the grade. Losing to Stewart by a score of 19 to 10, they made a valiant fight and were ahead at one period of the game.

However they are showing signs of progress and it is expected that they will reverse the score before the season is over.

Unfortunately there is no ball ground at Premier and the players don't get the opportunity to practice. They have to come to Stewart for that purpose.

Record Walleye Hooked By Woman

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Butcher John Sherrod nearly keeled over yesterday when Miss Emma Poff asked him to cut up a wall-eyed pike weighing 32 pounds, seven ounces.

She said she had pulled the monster from nearby Norris Lake last Saturday.

Sherrod explained to her that she probably had hooked the world's record wall-eye and urged her to save it and have it weighed officially for the record.

Miss Poff put the fish away in her home freezer and declined to discuss the matter further.

Sorry He Hired Hornsby

BOSTON (AP)—Owner Bill Veeck has fired hard-bitten Rogers Hornsby as manager of his St. Louis Browns and replaced him with mild-mannered Marty Marion.

The colorful boss of the Browns said he was sorry he ever had hired Hornsby, one of baseball's greatest players and a tough disciplinarian as a manager, whom he signed to a three-year contract last winter.

"It seems that he, as an employer, forgot that employees are people too," Veeck said.

"I don't say we have a great club or even a good one, but I'm sure our players will get along much better under Marion than under Hornsby."

The Browns got off to a good start under Hornsby but went into a slump in recent weeks and are currently in seventh place.

Marion said he plans no drastic changes in the club's line-up. "I'm going to pick my nine best players and use them in every game," he said. "There'll be no two-platoon system for me."

"And as for my own competitive plans, I'm still hoping I can play 100 games at shortstop this season and then take up bench-managing the Browns next year and the one after."

"But this bum back of mine will make the decisions."

So far this season, under a player-coach contract, Marion appeared in 40 games for the Browns, during which he compiled a .242 batting average.

MARTY SURPRISED

"Yes, I was surprised by this sudden switch," Marty admitted. "As you know, I had offers from other clubs when I signed on with the Browns. One of them was from the Boston Braves and I turned that one down because I didn't want to be placed in a position that might appear to be crowding Tommy Holmes (the Braves manager recently replaced by Charlie Grimm)."

"I was certain that nobody could ever accuse me of attempting to outsmart such an experienced manager as Hornsby."

As soon as the out-spoken Hornsby had made his speedy departure, the St. Louis players began to chorus their complaints about his exacting methods.

"Hornsby used to make us regulars get out and shag for pitchers for two and a half hours before a game," one of them said in a resentful manner. "And he used to sit in the lobby waiting for us to come in at night like we were kids," another said.

The pitchers' big Hornsby beef was "we never knew we were going to start until the last minute and he always made us sit on the bench while the other club was having batting practice. What can a pitcher learn from batting practice?"
