Peter's WA Officers Progress Annual Meet

Reports on W.A. officers and seating of new officers for 1954 highlighted the annual meeting of the Afternoon Branch of the W.A. to St. Andrew's Anglican Church, held at Seal Cove church yesterday afternoon.

Officers elected last night include: President, Mrs. J. J. Isherwood; vice-president, Mrs. J. J. Isherwood; secretary-treasurer, H. V. Tattersall; Dorcas lady, Mrs. J. Mellor; thank you secretary, Mrs. G. A. Moore.

Business session included reports on Evening Branch activities prepared by president acting secretary Mrs. W. J. McLean and read by Mrs. J. J. Moore.

Mrs. J. Mellor read the report on Afternoon Branch activities and Mrs. M. Viereck, president of the Afternoon Branch for the past six months, thanked the members for their co-operation and urged same support for her successor, Mrs. Prince, noting that reports heard showed favorable progress in church activities.

W. H. Lemmon, rector of St. Peter's, opened the session with a Scripture lesson, following the business session the group adjourned to the dining room where refreshments were served by members of both branches.

Special guests at the session were Mrs. F. E. Anfield, president of the Diocesan W.A., and H. G. Watts, wife of the rector of Caledonia, whose address on her excursion in Japan was postponed until the next meeting.

Card Party Resumed

Members of the Church of St. Andrew's last night resumed their card party series in the dining hall, when 10 tables were set.

Guests were: Bridge, Mrs. J. J. Isherwood; Mrs. C. Balch; Mrs. J. Cloutier; whist, Mrs. A. J. McDougall; pool, Mrs. J. J. Isherwood; door prize, Mrs. J. J. Isherwood.

For the evening was Mrs. J. J. Isherwood, assisted by Mrs. M. Galbraith and Mrs. L. Colussi.

LONDON FASHION EXPERTS say the fabric choice of smart women in offices and Mayfair drawing rooms or at royal garden parties next summer will be cotton. This is a regency print in Sudan cotton poplin, with a crisp bow at the neck and long loose sleeves. It is featured by a number of leading London couturiers.

Ever Since Eve

CELLULOSE SPONGES HAVE so many wonderful uses and one of my favorites is to use one as a soap dish at the sink. It keeps the soap from turning to jelly, does not make the usual soapy mess and is very handy for wiping up around the kitchen.

IF YOU FIND YOUR SILVER and copper require cleaning after the Yuletide entertaining, try applying your polish with a crumpled paper towel. This makes a quick applicator which you simply dispose of when you are through.

HOW OFTEN DO YOU REMEMBER to clean your telephone? So many women forget this much-used item and it is so important to give it regular cleaning, particularly around this time of the year when so much telephoning takes place—by so many people. I think the simplest way is to wipe the phone thoroughly with a damp cloth that has been wrung out of warm soap suds. Try to wring the cloth so that it will be almost dry, then go all over the telephone with it, rubbing briskly. Rinse immediately with a cloth wrung out of clear warm water, and dry with a soft cloth. If you should have some pine bath oil handy, one drop of this added to your clear, warm rinse water gives your telephone a most refreshing touch.

NEXT TIME A LEMON ENTERS into your meal planning, save the peel and drop it into your dish water. This softens the hardest water and will remove unpleasant food odors such as fish and onion from your dishes.

IF YOU HAVE A WIRE DISH-dRAINER which scratches your drain board, it can be made noiseless, scratchless and stain-free by putting rubber "cap" washers over each of the four feet. These fit perfectly and are not hard to slip on.

WHEN LAUNDERING SOME of your dainty lingerie or blouses, they may be done in a washing machine provided you use a very mild soap and remember to enclose these delicate things carefully in a mesh bag. This eliminates any tangling or tearing. Actually I advise this method only if you are pressed for time—nothing takes the place of careful hand laundering.

A GOOD STIFF BRUSH IS a handy accessory to have close to your laundry tubs. Before putting into your wash such garments as children's play clothes or any items which have cuffs or pockets, turn these inside out and brush thoroughly with your brush. This will give you a cleaner wash for this type of clothing as much of this type of dirt never even gets into your washing.

I ALWAYS ENJOY A NEW recipe for leftovers and, as curry is a particular favorite of mine, I do appreciate this recipe for leftover beef: Cut up meat into squares, leaving aside any gristle or fat. If you have 2 cups of meat, make 1 cup of white sauce: 2 tablespoons of melted butter, 2 tablespoons flour blended in 1/2 cup milk and 1/2 cup consommé or thin gravy. Add 1 teaspoon curry powder to sauce and stir well. Add some chopped onions and celery fried in butter, and meat. Heat well and serve with hot cooked rice.

Skeena Health Unit Clinics Carry On Despite Interior Renovation Project

By SHIRLEY YULE
When Prince Rupert mothers take their babies to clinics at the Skeena health unit headquarters here for the next few weeks, they'll find the offices in a turmoil but the staff carrying on as usual.
The unit offices on Second Avenue are undergoing renovations, designed to cheer up the decor and improve the layout for staff and public convenience.
Carpenters are hard at work building partitions, placing new doors and archways, roofing porches and building counters in the old building, but the staff continues and clinics are being held as usual, with workmen banished to outdoor jobs during the clinic sessions.
The present clinic room will undergo the biggest change. The business office is moving into the room, separated from the rest by an L-shaped counter, and equipped with new cupboards and shelves.
A new partition divides the remainder of the room into waiting room and clinic space, replacing the previous curtain divider, and new counters and cupboards are being installed in the clinic room for more efficiency.
Off the clinic is a small room for conference and examining purposes and a large supplies room.
The main entry for the public opens into the waiting room, instead of into the present business office, and a double door with small hallway is being installed to prevent drafts. The front porch of the building has been roofed, as has a side door for staff use only.
Dr. S. F. Carr, health unit director, will move his office into the present business office, and his present office will be taken over by the head nurse, Miss J. A. Boehme. The move will leave another nurses' office open for supplies and X-ray equipment.
The staff also hopes to redecorate the interior for a brighter atmosphere.
Greer & Bridden Ltd. are contractors on the job which started shortly after New Year's and is expected to be mainly completed by the end of the month.

Special Ticket Booths Open For Music Trail Concert

With one of the world's best violinists scheduled to give an Alaska Music Trail concert here January 20, special arrangements have been made to put tickets on sale tomorrow at three central downtown stores. These will be Ormes Drugs, McRae Bros. and Super-Valu. Tickets will also be available at the Civic Centre.
The artist is Frances Magnes, of New York, who has received international acclaim since she made her professional debut in 1946. Miss Magnes, who is noted for her striking appearance as well as her musical ability, plays a rare Anati violin which, being larger than the conventional "lady's violin," requires a strong and sure technique.
