Let's Pull Together

THE GROWTH and prosperity of a city depends I upon the spirit of its citizens.

The reason why some towns grow is because there are men of push and energy in them who are not afraid to spend their time and money to boost their town.

They erect substantial homes and modernize their business methods and premises; they join civic groups and service clubs and make every effort to advance the interests of the community in which they and their families are living.

They also use every means in their power to induce people to-locate in their city. Wherever they go they tell of the advantages of their town; they write about them in every letter; they send publicity folders and newspapers to friends in other parts of the country, and when anyone visits them they treat them so kindly that they fall in love with their city.

It is enterprise and everyone pulling that makes a progressive town - don't let that escape your memory.

There are some, perhaps too many in Prince Rupert, who imagine that they have no time for anything but their business and their own personal gain. They are content to leave the job of publicizing this city and creating a happy community to a dozen men and women whose names appear time after time on the executives of civic betterment

That is not the spirit that will secure for our city many of the advantages which we now lack.

The spirit we need is one of progressive planning with a long-range program brought to fulfillment to the betterment of all. True, the city council, the clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, the Prince Rupert publicity committee are pulling for our city. But a more definite program with each organization doing its share to bring a definite project into being would pay off better than half a dozen groups trying to tie together a lot of loose ends. The old saying, "United we stand, divided we fall," never applied more than it does in the building of a city. More liaison work between the groups would bring about a unified effort that would see Prince Rupert on its way toward taking its rightful place as a major port and the most progressive city in the northwest.

B.C. Liquor Changes

I WAS among the one third of the people of B.C. who voted in 1952 against the sale of hard liquor by the glass.

I was against any marked relaxation in hard liquor selling because it seems to me that we Canadians are already drinking far too much for our own good Experience everywhere shows that the more outlets you have the more hard liquor you selland the more money changes

Those places which already have beer parlors, and which voted "Yes" by the necessary margin, should not be compelled to get us more nuisance petitions and go through special elections, just to confirm what they already decided.
