STYLING from the waist up is the focal point of early summer fashions now showing in London. Important selling point for summer coats, suits and dresses is shoulder, bust and neckline interest. Popular in the higher-price ranges is this cosy tweed suit styled by Michael in yellow and white tweed. Displaying the new "lissom" look, it has a narrower, square shoulder than last season, with sleeves set at normal level. The neckline is a rounded, softer version of last year's wide V, emphasized by curving revers.

Two Travellers Of South Africa Visit Rupert

Paying a brief visit to Prince Rupert were two girls from South Africa who have travelled over half the world by bus, train, plane and boat on a sight-seeing three-month holiday.

They are Rene Robertson, stewardess on the South African Airlines and Xenia Gracie, office worker, both of Johannesburg.

They visited Rupert in the course of a B.C. coast trip after having crossed the continent from Montreal, seeing several Canadian and American cities. They travelled from South Africa to England before heading for North America, and will attend a friend's wedding in Toronto before returning home.

Many Attend Josephs Rites

Rev. Canon Basil S. Prockter conducted the funeral service at Grenville Court Chapel Tuesday for Geoffrey Arthur Josephs, long time resident of the Steward district, who died in Prince Rupert General Hospital Sunday.

Many attended the service at which hymns sung were "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "Breathe On Me Breath of God," and there were many floral tributes.

Officers of the Canadian Legion, of which Mr. Josephs was a member, conducted graveside rites in Fairview Cemetery, concluding with The Last Post. Pallbearers were John Kaspar, George Murray, Howard Milo, John Thompson, Frank Macdonald and Tommy Thomas.

Belgian Navy Making Strides

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Belgium is making strides toward having a standing navy for the first time in her history.

For more than a century, Parliament and public opinion have boycotted every effort to provide the country with an efficient naval force, for which two world wars have at last proved the necessity.

The Belgian Navy has just celebrated its eighth anniversary. It is still a small force, for so far only about one-third of the program has been completed.

At the end of last year, the navy comprised six ocean-going minesweepers, 10 coastal minesweepers, a 4,500-ton troop transport, a convoy escort frigate and a squadron of motor patrol boats on the Rhine.

In all, about 60 vessels, mainly minesweepers, are envisaged. Eight coastal and 18 river minesweepers are to be built in Belgium this year, while nearly 30 more ships of the same type will be constructed by the end of 1956.

The United States is helping to build up the new navy by providing 28 coastal minesweepers of which several have already arrived here.

St. John Classes Planned In Artificial Respiration

Could you revive a nearly-drowned person?

Because St. John Ambulance believes that nine out of ten people could not, special classes in artificial respiration will be staged in Prince Rupert during the week May 31 to June 4, designated "Save A Life Week" in Canada.

The week is designed as a public service to help cut down the annual toll of drownings, and the classes will be aimed especially at parents of young children who will be swimming this summer.

TWO-HOUR CLASS

The classes, two hours in length, will consist of one hour's instruction and demonstration and one hour's practice. Two hours are all that is necessary, said St. John spokesman here, to learn to save a life.

The classes will be held Monday through Friday at the City Hall, starting at 7 p.m. Attendance at only one session is necessary to learn the technique, but persons interested may attend as many classes as they wish.

Instructing at the sessions will be R. E. Eydson, W. N. R. Armstrong, Thomas Elliott, Percy Bond, A. E. Blackhall and J. E. Ewart.

PLAN SCHOOL CLASS

It is also hoped to arrange one session at Booth Memorial High School to instruct senior students in the art. If school officials agree, Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Elliott will undertake the student instruction.

St. John spokesmen said that, although the course was designed especially to combat the rising toll of summer swimming, the art of artificial respiration would come in handy in many other emergencies, such as choking, strangulation, poison gas, electric shock, exposure or smoke.

No appointments will be necessary for those wishing to take the instruction, but persons wishing further information are asked to phone No. 5 next week.
