Church Paper Criticizes Queen's Trip

LONDON (AP)—The Church of England newspaper complains that the Queen is being subjected to "sheer exploitation" by her own subjects. The weekly publication refers to the official parades, tours and other public appearances which have been going on ever since the Coronation June 2. It says in an editorial: "Without respite she has endured the strain of one public appearance after another. This would take toll of a strong man. Youthful and resilient though the Queen may be, she is not insensitive and is not entirely immune from fatigue."

The Queen is 27. The newspaper says the Queen's post-Coronation program, which has most recently taken her to Northern Ireland, "looks like sheer exploitation."

"Anybody engaged in public affairs knows well how, with the best desires imaginable, the public can be the cruelest of taskmasters."

Vacationers Stranded In Backwoods

ELY, Minn. (AP)—Vacationers in the heavily-wooded wilderness area near this northern Minnesota village were faced today with having no way out of their resorts except by canoe. Backing a presidential ban on commercial flying over the area issued in 1949, federal officials seized three planes and served criminal contempt citations on two pilots accused of bringing in vacationers.

For the tourists, estimated by the Ely Chamber of Commerce at about 200, the action meant canoe trips of a day or more would provide the sole means of departure. The area has no roads and no railways.

The forestry service said its planes will be available only for emergencies.

Barracks Started

REGINA (CP)—Work has started on a new $595,335 naval barracks here. It will be the headquarters of HMCS Queen, the Regina naval division.
