

Tourist Praises Culture Of Exhibits in Museum

Praise for the fine culture of the North American Indian as demonstrated by the exhibits in the Prince Rupert museum was expressed yesterday by a local American painter and art critic.

The museum for 2 1/2 years was Wyclif Taylor of San Diego, Calif., former president of the United States Arts and Crafts Administration, who, with his wife, Wilfred Taylor, is making a tour of Canada and the United States. Taylor was fascinated by the examples of Indian work in the local museum and the museum of Peggy Sowter, museum director, that some of the work of the North B.C. Coast Indians is a very superior nature. Taylor and his brother-in-law, left by car for Jasper and continue on to Montreal and Quebec. Later they will go south to Boston, New York and plan a visit to the Carlsbad Caverns.

While visiting the museum yesterday, Taylor was expressing delight in the environs of Prince Rupert and the courtesy they received here were Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Azusa, Calif. Mr. Brown, who is a nurse, and Mrs. Brown, who is a nurse, were among the 20 travellers on the Prince Rupert when she cruised into the harbor this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Pirie were married on July 24, 1903.

Mr. Sampson, who has been in Prince Rupert for the past 10 years, is leaving for Vancouver this Saturday to undergo surgical treatment. Mr. Sampson may visit California later.

Prince Rupert's public library will close for the annual month's holiday on August 8.

Mrs. James H. Thompson is spending a few weeks at her summer residence at Terrace.

The former Muriel Brewerton of Prince Rupert is now occupying her own residence in the Fraser Valley with her husband, Mr. Pooley, and two daughters. During pioneer times here, the Brewerton family lived in Prince Rupert when she was accountant in the Evening Empire office.

George Wilson, oldtimer in Prince Rupert, who moved from here about three years ago to Salmon Arm, continues to live there. Mr. Wilson, who hails from Scotland, once served in the News and Empire office. He later joined the provincial government office staff here.

A portrait of Miss Margaret Naden appeared in a Vancouver paper this week. She has been visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Naden of Vancouver, and is now returning to Hamilton, Ont., to continue nursing training. Her father, who spent his youth in Prince Rupert, is the son of G. R. Naden, who numbers among the original pioneers of the community and helped establish this city.

Mrs. Dora Feisenthal of Pittsburgh, Pa., mother of Lou Feisenthal, is renewing old acquaintances in this city. She came here from Vancouver after spending several weeks with her daughter-in-law.

One of the first references to the game of billiards is found in Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra."

Uruguay Bans Broadcast of Duels

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—The government has banned direct radio broadcast of any duel fought in the future. Duels are legal here.

The latest one, staged some months ago between Alfeo Brum, president of the Senate, and Uli- ses Pereyra Reverbell, a newspaper man opposed to him politically, was described in round-by-round fashion by a Montevideo radio station.

Talented Youngster Accepts Offer to Sing Before 12,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Conductor Alexander Hilsberg called for talented volunteers from the audience during the third and final children's concert at the Robin Hood Deil, Philadelphia's outdoor concert theatre.

Out walked six-year-old Russell Glover of Barnegate, N.J., as breezy as his garb of "T" shirt and dungarees to face an audience of 12,000.

After a brief discussion the two artists agreed on the hymn "For God So Loved the World," as the piece they knew best. The applause which followed Russell's high, sweet rendition stopped the show.
