Supreme Soviet Meets August 5

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's Parliament, the Supreme Soviet, now has been called to meet a week later than previously announced, on Aug. 5 instead of July 28.

The postponement by the Soviet's praesidium was announced today. No reason was given for the delay.

Though no agenda has been announced for the Soviet, a rubber-stamp body, observers have assumed that it would approve the ousting of Lavrenty F. Beria from the Soviet high command and also okay the new government budget.

Analysts of Russian affairs in New York speculated the meeting was being postponed because the government heads are not yet ready with their program.

Construction Slowed

MOOSE JAW, Sask. — The value of building permits taken out during the first six months of 1953 was down 20 per cent from the same period last year. Officials said excessive rainfall during the spring was partly responsible for the construction cut.
