Evening Wedding at St. Peter's

Miss Lavinia Elliott and Peter Gerard Exchange Vows

Before a candlelit flower decked altar in friendly little St. Peter's Church at Seal Cove, Lavinia Doreen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott of this city, and Peter Gerard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Finnigan of Smithers, were united in marriage by Rev. H. G. Bird at 7 o'clock Thursday evening before a large congregation of relatives and friends.

To the strains of the traditional wedding march from "Lohengrin," the radiant bride, wearing an exquisite floor length white bridal gown of fine French lace fashioned into a three-quarter length overskirt over rustling taffeta, entered the church on the arm of her father. Her gown featured a dainty low-cut scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. A delicately bordered fingertip veil, cascading from a pearl studded tiara, and a pearl necklace, gift of the groom, completed her costume. Her bouquet was American Beauty roses and white stephanotis.

The bride's three pretty attendants were each in diverse pastel shades in keeping with the vernal season.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Graham, wore a frothy floor length gown of sea mist green fashioned with a full skirt and tiny matching bolero. The bridesmaids, Misses Margaret Wide and Margaret Johansen, wore diaphanous gowns of subdued mauve and soft pink respectively.

All three attendants had hair coronets of gathered lace holding in place shoulder length veils in colors matching their gowns. All three wore matching elbow length gloves and carried bouquets of mixed daffodils, tulips and irises.

Charles Graham was groomsmen and Lloyd Pedersen and Ernie Braman acted as ushers.

RECEPTION

Following the exchange of vows, a reception was held in the Sons of Norway Hall on Fifth Avenue for a large gathering of friends and well wishers.

The newly married couple, with the parents of both bride and groom, received the guests beneath an archway of spring colored streamers. Mrs. Elliott looked charming in a gown of black net with matching accessories set off by a small grey hat. Mrs. Finnigan's smart costume consisted of a wine crepe gown with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Charles Graham and to the bride attendants by the groom. Andrew Wyatt, who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening, read several out-of-town telegrams of congratulation.

"Woman Is Dangerous"

A high-powered drama of romance and intrigue, "This Woman Is Dangerous," which stars Joan Crawford, Dennis Morgan and David Brian, begins a local engagement at the Capitol Theatre on Monday.

As a woman high in the social register of the underworld, Miss Crawford is seen in the type of role which affords her the opportunity to display her dramatic talents to their best advantage. She also is seen in some outstanding dress creations.

In one of the leading male roles, Morgan portrays a doctor in love with Joan who believes he can help her elude the government agents on her trail. It is Morgan, however, who brings about her downfall and subsequent reform.

David Brian is a notorious gangster whose unbridled jealousy leads to the picture's suspenseful climax.

Felix Feist directed "This Woman Is Dangerous."

In due course, the magnificent bridal cake, loed in white and pink and topped with a miniature bridal couple, was cut by the bride and groom.

The serving of delicious refreshments was in the hands of Mrs. Foster Husoy, Mrs. Anna Dimitrov, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. William McLean, Mrs. Jack Eby and the Misses Lois Digby, Margaret Keays, Daisy Arden, Mary Storrie and Sheila MacRae. The punch was in charge of the bride's brother, Frank Elliott.

Music for the dancing which followed was provided by Mike Colussi. Candid photos were taken during the course of the evening.

Following the reception, the bridal couple departed aboard the steamer Prince Rupert for Vancouver and Seattle for a two weeks' honeymoon before returning to the city to make their home.

For her travelling costume, the bride chose a navy tailored suit with matching accessories, enhanced by a crisp white blouse topped with a shortie coat of apricot rose, and a corsage of vari-colored carnations.
