Ken Watson's Curling

Next... Thumbing a Ride

No one fault is as glaring among young curlers today as a common tendency to "ride the broom" during delivery, to help maintain balance. In effect, they are thumbing a ride because they are not sliding by using their own sense of balance. It is similar to using a side-car on a motorcycle to maintain easy riding. Well, what's wrong with that? ... you may ask. Plenty! If it results you want, take heed. If you merely want to look graceful on the ice, go ahead and don't bother reading the rest of this. But if you are one of those sliders who ends his delivery with the body swinging to the right after the rock is released, you are a "sucker" for an in-turn take-out. Any smart skip playing against you would in-turn you to death because with this delivery your body drifts off line and it is necessary to hook your rock back on the proper line of delivery, just as you release the handle. Out-turns will not bother you as much because you drift to the out-turn side or right side of the ice. This type of delivery will get you into real trouble on tricky ice where there are "runs" or ridges that require pin-point accuracy in "getting the broom."

A few years ago, the young high-school champions, representing Manitoba in the Canadian school championships that year, had all developed that type of delivery with one exception. Playing on very tricky ice, they missed the broom consistently with in-turn shots. They were trimmed by teams with far less experience, yet when the shouting was all over they were innocently unaware of the real cause of it all.

Ages Range From 25 to 29 Years

OTTAWA (C)—Convictions indicate that Canada's narcotic addicts mainly range in age from 25 to 29. They are located largely in British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Statistics covering convictions were contained in the federal health department's annual report, tabled in the Commons by Health Minister Martin. The report, covering the fiscal year ended March 31, 1952, said the health of Canadians is continuing to improve and experience shows Canada's health standards can be brought up to those of any country. On control it said "Canada's addict population during the year remained much the same." No figures were given. A total of 376 convictions were obtained under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act during the year ended Sept. 30, 1952. There were 205 convictions in British Columbia; 80 in Ontario; 58 in Quebec; 17 in Manitoba; 13 in Alberta and three in Saskatchewan. Only four of those convicted were under 20, most of the others being between 25 and 29. Sentences ranged from six months to seven years. Three nurses were among those convicted. The report said heroin on the illicit market "was apparently readily available" during the year at several urban points.

BABE PRATT QUITS ROYALS AS TEAM FAILS TO CLICK

NEW WESTMINSTER (C)—Walter (Babe) Pratt has quit as coach of the Western Hockey League New Westminster Royals because of the team's dismal showing this season. "It's obvious the Royals aren't going anywhere," he said. "It's slow death. Perhaps it's my fault. This may be the answer. I am going to sit tight for a few days. I have no plans at the moment." Ken MacKenzie, Royals co-owner, took over as coach when the team left Monday for a three-game prairie trip. New Westminster now rests in seventh place in the eight-team league.
