French Ready For 'Big' Battle
HANOI, Indo-China (P)—The French high command said today "everything is ready" for a showdown battle with the Vietnamese troops closing in on Dien Bien Phu, France's last big stronghold in the mountainous Thai country of northwest Indo-China.

The army spokesman said Vietnamese division 316, the threatening enemy force, was still 12 miles northeast of Dien Bien Phu's fortified plain and had made no move indicating an attack was imminent.
French and Viet Namese soldiers, aided by partisan fighters of the Thai mountain tribes, continued reconnaissance patrols in the area.
