Keeping Our Faith Alive
FRED ANTROBUS, First Baptist Church

While you have the light, lest darkness come upon you." John 12:15

Our faith fail or grow dim? Why do we lose some of our faith for Christian living, which we once had? Many have given, but the warning Christ gave, is the best, "Walk while you have the light." said Jesus, "lest darkness (moral and spiritual) come upon you."

And the darkness grows thick around us till the face of God is hidden. The greatest of saints have known this experience. They speak of it as "the dark night of the soul." But faith bids us carry on through the dimness, without struggle or repining.

But there is another kind of challenge to obedience through which faith grows and deepens. It is not only to walk in the light, but to carry the light. It is the job of all of us who know the light of the Gospel, and are walking in its light. Out of the war comes the story of a Christian, who in order to help those who were conscripted to work in munition factories in Germany, volunteered to go as a workman himself, from his French village. After work in the factory he formed little groups of Christians to spread the faith.

"We decided," he says, "to send the men out singly or in pairs to take a real interest in someone else, and to give him the best they had—their faith in Christ."

Of course, the light must be shining in us and through us before this can happen. Those whom the light illuminates become illuminating, if we are ready, as Jesus bade us, to put our light on a candlestick, and not keep it covered. Can we not find here the reason why the faith of so many of us has lost its radiance, its influence? We are so timid about speaking to others about our Saviour, that we keep silent when folks may be longing for our help; or else we are so concerned with our own burdens, that we have no room for those of others.

"Take my yoke upon you," said Christ to the weary and heavy-laden, "and you shall find rest unto your souls. My yoke (of service) is easy." What is more, our faith will be rekindled. What a tremendous debt the Church at home owes to its missionaries, who have revealed to us a world where God is at work. The light they carried into dark places has reflected back to the Church at home a greater vision of God's grace and power, and of His redeeming purpose.

And only as we share our Christian faith with the lost and needy around us, in adventurous service, can it grow and deepen into a more permanent possession. "Arise, and shine, for thy light is come," said the prophet to the exiles in Babylon. Our light is Christ and His salvation. And this is God's word to us today.

Rupert Symphony Orchestra Presents Concert Next Week

The Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra, directed by Peter Lien, will take the stage next Wednesday night at the Civic Centre for their annual spring concert.

Guest artists, including piano duetists and a choral group will add to the variety of the program.

The orchestra, comprising about 20 musicians, has been in operation here for about 10 years. It grew out of a small instrumental group organized by Mr. Lien for a special occasion during the war and has been active ever since.

Director Lien is well-known for his musical ability, not only for his symphony work but also as organist and choir director.

Wherever...Whenever Canada Needs Him

The Canadian Soldier stands trained and ready to aid in the defence of our freedom wherever and whenever it may be necessary.

He may be in Korea, in Europe, or in any one of the scattered military establishments across Canada and into our Arctic regions. But wherever and whenever he is called upon to go, the Canadian Soldier's training and spirit is all directed to one basic aim—the defence of Canada. It is hard to imagine what this country would be like without such devotion. Throughout our history, he has surely earned the pride—the gratitude of this nation.

In these last few years, the Canadian Soldier has played his part in discouraging potential aggressors and in helping to ease the threats of war through service in Korea and duty in Germany. But, there is still a lot to do. We must not relax our defences.
