BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

With Mr. Masters Playing Opposite Him
Mr. Masters Makes Humanics Pay Off

Mr. Masters is an expert on bridge humanics. It is not enough for him to make the right technical plays—plays for which he could not possibly be criticized. He also tries at all times to make it as easy as possible for his partner to play correctly.

Take a look at today's hand. At first glance it appears that nothing can prevent Mr. Abel from making his contract. He loses only two spades and a club. Actually he has no chance at all against the proper defense.

Mr. Masters won the first two tracks with the king and queen of spades, Mr. Muzzy echoing with the seven and deuce. Now, Mr. Masters fully realized the potential value of his twice-guarded 10 of trumps.

PROMOTES 10 SPOT

If Mr. Muzzy had the king or the queen or the jack of trumps, that 10 spot could be promoted to a full-fledged winner.

To effect this, Mr. Masters cashed the ace of clubs, then led another spade even though he knew Mr. Abel was out of the suit. Had Mr. Champion been his partner, he could have led any spade—even the ace—and Mr. Champion would have ruffed with his highest trump to try and promote a trump winner in Mr. Master's hand.

LEADS LOW SPADE

Not so with Mr. Muzzy. If the ace of spades had been led at trick three he undoubtedly would have taken a discard. He would have said, "You can never convince me that I should trump my partner's good ace."

You never could either. Anyway, to make sure Mr. Muzzy would trump, Mr. Masters led the trey of spades. The nine topped it and Mr. Muzzy put the queen of trumps.

Would Offer Candidates To CCFers

VANCOUVER—British Columbia Federation of Labor, at its convention here at the week-end, decided, after some difference of opinion as to the propriety of the move, to hold a series of meetings in various industrial areas of the province to discuss potential candidates for CCF nomination in the next provincial election.

Some of the delegates felt this move would be interfering with the prerogative of the CCF and that it should be left to the CCF to name their own candidates and seek union endorsement.

Just before Joe died he made his wife promise she wouldn't marry again. When Jones heard about this he said: "That was just like Joe, always doing something to help his fellow men!"

BOY SAVED 19—Fourteen-year-old Sheldon Mulse carried two small children to safety and roused 17 other occupants of a downtown Toronto boarding house when fire swept the building. Sheldon was baby-sitting when he noticed smoke coming from the room where two children were asleep. The room was filled with flames when he rescued the children. He rang the fire alarm until the house was emptied. He is shown with Howard and Donna Gilard whom he rescued. (CP PHOTO)

Mr. Abel over-ruffed with the king but after that he had to lose a trump trick and the ace of clubs for down one.
