

Prince Rupert Girls to and Ottawa National Camp

Girls from Prince Rupert, instead of one as formerly planned, will go to Canadian Girl Guides National Camp in 1952 in Ottawa. The chosen are Class Guide Anne Eyolfson of the Third Prince Rupert Company, (Conrad St.) and Second Guide Nancy Lund of the First Prince Rupert (Cathedral) Company.

Outfits Fashion Key

ROBY MASSIN
With the winter season in full swing, ski outfits are the key of the Paris fashion for winter sports. This season is felt. In these and appliqued with designs, felt is used for ski skirts, stoles and jackets. Jacques Heim has a series of circular cut skirts, apron style and worn over jersey ballet leotards with tight from toe to knee.

Introducing again in a "hot pink" color a wide border appliqued with motifs, including flowers and small pine trees. The full representation from this district will consist of District Commissioner Honora L. Silversides, Patrol Leader Nancy Lund, Prince Rupert; Patrol Leader Anne Eyolfson, Prince Rupert and Guide Mary Anne Brandis, Terrace.

What's doing at— CIVIC CENTRE

A miniature airplane constructed from plywood with wheels and propeller is an interesting development in Junior Boys' woodwork at the Civic Centre classes. Jon Ardagh finished his while several boys have theirs ready for assembly. Gary Calderone has a tie rack ready to be put together this week. The girls are still making cradles and small wall shelves. Diana Davidson is persevering with the hard work of cutting 7-ply which is used for the footstool.

Personals—

Polenthal returned to Vancouver yesterday afternoon from a trip to Vancouver.

Hanson is recovering from a fall when he slipped a few days ago. Fortunately, no bones were broken.

Peterson, one of Prince Rupert's best known pioneers, reached his eighty-first birthday and continues in good health and able to find his way through the city he helped develop.

Remains of the late John McMillan, proprietor of the Edward Hotel at Stewart, B.C., were here to be interred at the Camosun going to Vancouver where interment will be made. The widow and other members of the family accompanied the remains.

Daisies Blooming Today In Prince Rupert Garden

If June can come in January, can July come in February? That's what one Prince Rupert citizen may have been wondering this morning as she picked a bouquet of daisies from her garden. Fellow employees at the dry-cleaning firm where she works were surprised to see Mrs. Dorothy Shade, Seal Cove Circle, walk into the office with the bouquet. And not the least surprised was Mrs. Mimi Kraupner, recently from Germany, who thought all plants died here in the winter.

Auto Assn. Difference

Value of Membership
Discussed at Chamber of Commerce Meeting

"The only interest that the British Columbia Automobile Association seems to have in the north is the collection of the $10 membership fee. Otherwise, their interest in it is absolutely nil," Hugo Kraupner, chairman of the highway committee, told the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night in reporting on a convention of the Association which he had gone to Vancouver recently to attend.

Short shift had been given to a Chamber of Commerce resolution in regard to Highway 16 which Mr. Kraupner had carried to the convention. It had been mentioned at the dying moments of the convention and referred to the executive.

The Association, Mr. Kraupner said, was supposed to have considerable influence at Victoria in regard to highway legislation but everything appeared to be for the benefit of the southern part of the province.

W. J. Scott felt that membership in the British Columbia Automobile Association was of value to motorists. That had been his experience following a recent motor trip through the United States. "We cannot expect the Association to build roads for us. For one, I think you get your money's worth from membership."

There was formerly an active branch of the British Columbia Automobile Association in Prince Rupert but it has languished of late.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

There was another bumper attendance last night at the monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce. Having been absent last month, it was the first meeting to be conducted by the new 1952 president, T. N. Youngs, who expressed the opinion that this would be an important year in the history of Prince Rupert and that the Chamber of Commerce would have an important part to play. In addition to the large attendance of members, guests were George Vincent of Vancouver, Harry Wilkins of Toronto, William McLeod of Kitimat and Don Fitch of Prince Rupert.

R. L. Brash, new secretary-manager of the Canadian Legion, was elected to membership in the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night. J. E. Taylor, new manager of the Royal Bank of Canada here, was welcomed as a new member.

Hugo Kraupner and J. C. Gilker will represent the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce at
