The Most Powerful Gasoline Your Car Can Use!

TODAY'S more powerful engines require a highly complex gasoline to deliver their full power. There can be as many as 1500 different chemical compounds in a gallon of gasoline.

To select the best of these chemicals, and to arrange them properly to fulfill the needs of your car calls for the last word in refinery equipment and scientific skill.

It is Shell's manufacturing policy to make "The most powerful gasoline your car can use." Shell activates gasoline by splitting and rearranging petroleum molecules.

The result—Shell Premium—the most powerful gasoline your car can use. See the Shell Dealer in your neighborhood.

A Lesson In Spelling

LOS ANGELES (AP)—School Superintendent Alexander J. Stoddard has decided what should be done with 500,000 report cards that come back from the printer with misspellings.

He recommended to the board of education that some be used as office duplicates in secondary schools and the rest, corrected by hand, be issued to elementary school students.

When the cards came out several weeks ago the "U" and "A" in "language" were transposed and the second "S" was missing from "semester." Seems the school system's proof-reader hadn't noticed the errors.

Concluding his report to the school board, Stoddard said: "There are two words, language and semester that we hope no one of our generation will ever misspell again."

Stoddard apparently didn't proofread his copy. It's "misspell," not "misspell."

Lumbering Dispute Goes Before Board

VANCOUVER (CP)—The wage dispute in British Columbia's lumbering industry will be put before the conciliation board. Decision to apply for the board was made Friday when representatives of the International Woodworkers and Forest Relations representing operators failed to reach agreement. The union, with 32,000 members, seeks a 35 cent hourly wage boost. Operators propose wage cuts.

Concrete Tower Monolith For Temporary Dam

TRAIL, B.C.—Six thousand tons of concrete, in a solid block 18 storeys high, will be toppled into the swift Pend d'Oreille river near here sometime late this summer in a remarkable engineering project.

It is designed to block the river partially so that work can be continued on the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's $35,000,000 Waneta dam. Work already is under way on the concrete pillar, known as monolith. It will be the highest such project ever built although the monolith scheme has been used several times before in other parts of the world.

Base for the pillar already is in place, under the rising river. When the water recedes, about July, the tower will be erected, rising 180 feet above the base. Its face will correspond to the bottom of the river and when it is toppled over it is expected to block two-thirds of the channel, thus enabling the river bottom to be bared and the dam to be erected.

Heaviest monolith ever built was in 1930 on the Saguenay river but it was only 92 feet high. It weighs about 12,000 tons. In the past monoliths have been blasted from their foundations to fall into place but the present plan for the Waneta project calls for it to be toppled over by a cable.

Direction of the fall will be guided by a steel hinge at the base.

The monolith is being built by Northern Construction and J. W. Stewart Ltd. of Vancouver.

HONOR CANADIANS—Pierre Dupuy, Canadian ambassador to the Netherlands, places a wreath from the Canadian government at the foot of the Cross of Sacrifice during the commemoration service May 5 for Canadian servicemen who died in the Netherlands during the Second World War. The service was held at Bergen op Zoom in the Netherlands province of Noord Brabant. The Canadian wreath was placed below the one laid by the representative of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands. Mr. Dupuy, who was responsible for initiating the annual commemoration service seven years ago, leaves for Rome at the end of May to take over his new duties as Canadian ambassador to Italy. VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Robert Kitto had a good catch in Kalamalka Lake during the week-end.

Seven large rainbow trout and a waterproof wallet with $122. And, she later found the owner of the wallet. He is J. C. Langstaff, who lost it while fishing last fall.

Mrs. Kitto used her lucky rod. She found it in Okanagan Lake two years ago.

Mr. Kitto went fishing, too. His catch: nil.

Association have had limbs amputated through injuries received, and are in receipt of small monthly pensions awarded under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

We would like to ask candidates for the coming Provincial election, are you in favor of giving these amputees a "square deal?" When you consider that the amount paid under the Workmen's Compensation Act goes as low as $15 for the loss of a leg, and $20 for an arm, and that the Army award for similar disabilities is $102 and $97.50, we think you will agree that these pensions are ridiculous, inadequate, and a disgrace to the Workmen's Compensation Board and to the Province of British Columbia.

If elected, will the candidate give support to have the Workmen's Compensation Act changed so that the pensions of ALL amputation cases—whatever the date of the accident—be brought up to the 1952 Workmen's Compensation Board amputations pensions level?

J. C. EASTWOOD,
President, Workmen's Compensation Board Amputees' Association,
Victoria, B.C.

AS I SEE IT

good spectacle, Canada's parliament ranks near at the bottom of the entire list. That is because we have been so much alike that more of sound and fury has gone into our party debates here than I don't know if do know that I used to be.

THE JOB of being a Canadian MP is surely one of the most attractive in the world. By Canadian standards it is undervalued. It is a literal fact that more than here, work 12 to 15 hours per day, every day. The amount of mail from constituents is large. Nearly every letter demands not only an answer, some further action. The job flattens out much of the sense of fun and liveliness that used to prevail in some times—and which still prevails in some countries.

THE MP's from the far west and far east have an grievance against what they think it would be a good idea to have Canada's parliament "tour" for the next ten years, meeting in a different province every year, for that one I think it would be a good idea for the poison of long residence. For the government is on the job all year long. On tour it would be in the body's interest to "make it and snappy."

White And Black Blend in Prayer

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Two churches—one Negro, the other white—which merged, the other began regular Sunday services yesterday. It was the first regular service under Rev. Wesley L. Hawes, 36-year-old Negro who was chosen as pastor by both Presbyterian congregations.

The merger was the result of too little room and too many members for the all-Negro church and too much room for too many members for the white Westminster. They had to combine two weeks ago.
