Dan McGrew, predicted "there'll be a hot time in the town of Yellowknife, N.W.T., when word of the duke's projected visit gets through."

Macdonald Hastings, who visited Yellowknife 18 months ago, said in the Daily Express that the Duke will probably stay at Ingham's Hotel—"the last place with a bath before you hit the North Pole."

"Yellowknife to me was the surprise of a lifetime," added Hastings. "I went there dressed like a hairy caterpillar, ready to dig myself an igloo. Yet soon I was sitting in a centrally heated hotel suite."

THE WOMEN DID IT

The fact is, Hastings confessed, that the arrival of women has caused civilization to come to the country. Britons know chiefly through the works of Robert W. Service.

Meanwhile, the duke, who recently returned from a holiday in Scotland with the Queen, is big news. Almost everything he does causes a flutter. The other day he spoke of the need for an improved road system in Britain, and shares of road-making companies promptly experienced a stock exchange boom. About $250,000 was added to the market value of six firms.

Historian Roger Fulford, in a pen portrait published this week, called the duke a man "of outstanding vitality who is in step with the modern world."

The duke will visit Vancouver next summer to attend the British Empire Games.

Ron Allen Takes Over New Position

A man who began his banking career here 23 years ago has returned as manager of the Bank of Montreal.

Ronald J. Allen, son of Prince Rupert's first photographer, succeeds Ernie Paulding, who has been transferred to Duncan, Vancouver Island.

Prior to coming here, Mr. Allen was assistant manager of the bank's Main and Hastings branch in Vancouver.

Born at Kamloops, he came to Prince Rupert while still a boy and received his education here. He attended Westview, Borden Street and Both Memorial schools and was graduated from King Edward High School.

He joined the B of M here in 1930 and subsequently gained most of his early banking experience in Vancouver. He was first moved to Vancouver in October, 1933. He interrupted his career in 1942 to join the RCAF.

FIRST APPOINTMENT

Mr. Allen received his first appointment as accountant at the bank's Kelowna office in 1947. A year later, he took over as assistant manager at the same branch.

In 1950 he was transferred to the Main and Hastings branch in Vancouver as assistant manager. An outdoorsman, he enjoys hunting, fishing, trap-shooting and badminton. He is married and has two daughters, Sharon, 10, and Kerry, 8.

His father, D. J. Allen, operated a store here for many years until he went to work at the drydock in 1930, remaining there until his retirement in 1949. He and Mrs. Allen now reside in Victoria.

Mr. Paulding, in the two years he served here, was active in community affairs. He served as chairman of both the Chamber of Commerce finance committee and the Rotary Club membership committee.

He was also on the Library Board and the Public Relations Council, and held memberships in the Civic Centre Association, the Prince Rupert Club, and the "27" Club.

Changes in Unemployment Benefits Affect Holiday, Separation Pay

OTTAWA—Important amendments to Unemployment Insurance Benefit Regulations with respect to holidays, and money received on separation from employment, have been announced by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Under the new provisions, which are now in effect, benefit is not paid to an employee for the first week of a plant or factory shutdown for a general holiday, regardless of whether the employee is paid for the holiday or not. However, if the shutdown for holiday lasts for more than a week benefit is paid for days (other than statutory holidays) in the second and subsequent weeks, for which the employee does not receive pay. Holiday pay, received at termination of employment, will not deprive a claimant of benefit.

Another amendment provides that when an employer does not require his employees to work on the day before a statutory holiday, or on the day following the holiday, or on both, benefit will not be paid for any of the days on which the employees do not work.

Formerly, when a person received money from his employer on termination of employment (other than money representing pension payments or for overtime) that person was not paid benefit until the period represented by this money had elapsed.

Now all money received on termination will be disregarded in determining whether or not a person is unemployed, unless paid in consideration of the recipient undertaking to return to his former employer when required, in accordance with a guaranteed wage plan, for retirement leave credits, or in lieu of notice. If it is paid in the circumstances just mentioned a person receiving it will not be entitled to benefit until the period represented by the money has elapsed.
