Telkwa Names W9 Delegate

Mrs. Fred Rosberg To Take Resolutions To Provincial Meeting

TELKWA — Telkwa Women's Institute has nominated Mrs. Fred Rosberg as its delegate to the provincial conference of Women's Institutes in Vancouver and will send with her resolutions seeking the sending of a blood donor clinic to Telkwa and a revision of the system of marking and rating school report cards.

The old system of report cards was considered more effective than the new in giving definite indication as to how pupils were progressing.

The W.I. meeting received letters of acknowledgment from recipients of overseas parcels and also notes of thanks from pioneers who received Christmas cake and gifts at the festive season.

The Institute is planning March of Dimes boxes in the local stores, the proceeds to go to the sanatorium for crippled children.

School rooms will be used when Miss Cross of the University of British Columbia extension department comes here to conduct classes between April 9 and 19.

The Institute proposes to sponsor a Brownie Pack under the leadership of Mrs. Les Donaldson, assisted by Mrs. Alf Cunningham.

Mrs. Robert Scott, a patient in the Smithers Hospital, and Mrs. C. F. Bussinger, receiving treatment in Vancouver for her eyes, will be remembered by the Institute.

Eighteen members were present at the meeting and Mrs. George Griffiths was a guest.

THE EXPERTS Say...

CHEESE — Britain's shortage of dollars inevitably will mean a cut in her 1952 imports. It already has been hinted that her cheese contract with Canada may be the first to go.

Last year Ontario cheese producers sold the United Kingdom about 25,000,000 pounds of cheddar. Canada's total cheese production for the year was 258,000,000 pounds.

Undoubtedly cheese manufacturers would be unhappy about any loss of export markets, but housewives might benefit through lower prices. At present Canadian cheese sells for 50 cents and up, according to age and variety.

Canada, a cheese-producing land, never has been known as a country of cheese-eaters. Yet cheese is one of the most health-giving foods on the market.

CHEESE MUFFINS
Cheese in muffins, even in salads and desserts, can be recommended.

Many varieties of cheese are manufactured in Canada. Did you know Camembert, Edam, Gouda, Oka, Roquefort and Limburger are all manufactured in this country?

CHEESE MUFFINS: 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour; three teaspoons baking powder; one-half teaspoon salt; two-thirds cup grated cheese; one egg; one cup milk or tomato juice; two tablespoons melted shortening.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add cheese. Beat egg, add milk. Make a depression in flour mixture, pour in egg and milk mixture; add melted shortening. Stir only enough to combine. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full. Sprinkle with additional grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven (400° F) 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: one dozen medium sized muffins.

MACARONI AND CHEESE SALAD: Two cups cooked macaroni (three-quarter inch pieces); three-quarters cup grated cheese; three hard cooked eggs (chopped); one cup diced celery; one chopped green pepper; one chopper red pepper; one tablespoon finely chopped onion; salt to taste; mayonnaise.

Combine ingredients and toss lightly with sufficient mayonnaise to moisten. Serve on crisp lettuce. Yield: six servings.

ALSO WITH FRUIT
FRUIT PERFECTION — One teaspoon gelatine; one tablespoon cold water; one four-ounce package cream cheese; one-half cup salad dressing; dash of salt; one tablespoon sugar; one cup whipping cream; two cups diced fruit (drained).

Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Mash cheese with fork and beat until smooth. Beat in salad dressing. Add dissolved gelatine, salt and sugar. Whip cream and fold into cheese mixture. Add fruit. Pour into moulds and chill or freeze until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce. Yield: six to eight servings.

Experts at Kitchener, Ont., situated in the heart of Canada's cheese-producing area, claim that decayed whey remaining in the curd is what puts the "smell" in Limburger. Nearly all the whey is pressed out of the Cheddar. Only a small amount is removed from Limburger.

The B.C. provincial police force was organized fifteen years before the R.C.M.P.

To Improve Kids' Camp

Kinsmen Making Lakelse Resort Available to Worthy Organizations

With a few hundred dollars, volunteer labor and enthusiasm, Prince Rupert Kinsmen will effect several major improvements this year on their Kiddies' Camp at Lakelse Lake, near Terrace. Then the camp will be opened to any worthwhile children's organizations here.

Improvements suggested by Harry Sheardown, chairman of the camp committee, were approved as follows:

A new landing float will be built as well as two more huts, a staff house, benches and tables.

An unfinished hut is to be completed and investigation made on possibility of building a shelter over a porch.

A good boat will be procured and more of the campsite is to be cleared.

The Kinsmen camp, located on four lots on the shore of Lakelse Lake consists of eight buildings, including bunk houses, cook house and recreation hall. Buildings are equipped with beds, mattresses and springs, stoves, cooking utensils. Other camping equipment also is included.

The camp was started in 1944 and until last year, operated by the Kinsmen, when it was turned over to a church organization. Mr. Sheardown said it had been a "successful" camp last summer.

This year, the camp will again be offered to children's organizations and it is planned to begin work on improvements as soon as possible. Kin President Stan Saville will ask two week-ends of volunteer labor from each member.

CO-INSURANCE
premiums deducted from a worker's pay check by his employer are remitted to the service. The report recommends that this scheme be abolished and that the employer and the worker work out a voluntary method for deductions.

At the same time the service would issue a card with a number on it to each paid-up person.

Every issuer of licences (for instance, licence plates for cars, fishing or hunting licences) would ask the person buying that licence for his hospital insurance number. If the person could not provide it, he would be reported to the hospital service.

An employer would also ask an employee to produce his hospital insurance card. If he could not, he would be reported to the service and his wages garnished.

The report says that the recommendations mean an increased cost.

Elimination of co-insurance and exemptions for persons in lower income brackets would reduce the income but this would be made up for by the administration's overhaul and crack-down on delinquents.
