Mr. Champion Chooses To Finesse On First Trick; Move Pays Off

This is another deal from the team of four match between Mr. Masters' club and the team from the Uptown Club. The match was over and the scores were being checked.

"I gave myself every chance on this hand," said Mr. Champion. "I suppose that's why we won it."
"Here's how the play went," he continued. "Mr. South led the nine of diamonds against my four heart contract. My first problem was whether or not to take a finesse here at the first trick.

PLAYS PERCENTAGES

"If the lead were a singleton, maybe I should go up with the ace and take our trumps as fast as possible.

"But five outstanding cards of a suit are divided 4-1 only 23 per cent of the time. And I know that fellow South was a tricky player.

"Of course there was also the possibility that Mr. North had the singleton king but from the lead of the nine spot, that seemed very improbable. So I took the finesse."

"Brilliant," remarked Mr. Muzzy, yawning.

POSES PROBLEM

Mr. Champion stabbed Mr. Muzzy with a stare and continued. "Mr. North took the king of diamonds and switched to the jack of clubs. Again I had a problem.

"If I played the queen and lost to the king I had a sure spade loser facing me, plus the remote chance of losing a trick to the 10 of trumps.

"If I played the ace and was able to drop the 10 of trumps I was in for 11 tricks. Now Mr. North is a tricky player, too, and maybe had the king of clubs and was trying to talk me out of the finesse.

"Anyway, I went up with the ace of clubs and came home with 11 tricks."
"Whew! All that wonderful thinking for nothing," said Mr. Muzzy. "Beating your brains out about whether to try for six-odd or settle for a sure five. When we played against the hand, we set four hearts a trick."
See tomorrow's column for proof of Mr. Muzzy's statement.
