Injured Girl To Have Brain Operation

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pretty Edna Achymichuk, whose brain was injured so severely in a car-bus accident March 13 that doctors here said she may never completely recover, is going to the Mayo Clinic—perhaps for a delicate brain operation.

She left for Rochester, Minn., Friday, accompanied by her mother and a special nurse. No plans have been made for the operation as the decision rests with the Mayo specialists.

The 21-year-old University of British Columbia co-ed was unconscious 96 days in Vancouver General Hospital. When she recovered to semi-consciousness she was unable to speak, and her eyes, open most of the time, wandered aimlessly about the room.

At the time of the accident, the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Achymichuk, were visiting their other daughter, Mrs. Marie Fisher, in Calgary.

They flew to Vancouver and one of them remained at Edna's bedside for the whole time she was unconscious.

Marketing Act Upheld By Supreme Court

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today upheld the validity of the 1949 marketing legislation authorizing provinces to direct marketing of their farm products beyond provincial borders.

The court reversed judgment of the Supreme Court of Prince Edward Island that held the Agricultural Products Marketing Act was unconstitutional and that interprovincial and international marketing schemes based on it were invalid.

Several such schemes set up by provinces under the 1949 statute were suspended after the ruling of the P.E.I. court early this year. P.E.I., New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and British Columbia governments joined the federal government in fighting the decision.

Skeena River Drowning Adds To Death Toll Over Week-End

Rupert Pioneer of Gold Rush Days Dead in South

An early pioneer who followed the Klondike in his youth and was one of the first to develop business background of Prince Rupert, died in Vancouver this morning.

He was Olier Besner, 78, owner of one of the largest city business blocks. He died in Vancouver General Hospital after a lengthy period of illness. He has no immediate survivors.

OLIER BESNER
... dead at 78

Born and raised in Quebec, Mr. Besner responded early in life to the glamor and excitement of the Klondike gold rush. He went through it all, and with pick and shovel created his "stake" with which he started one business after the other. In 1908 he came to Prince Rupert when the fervor of gold discoveries was beginning to fade in the Yukon, and he settled in the new ocean port of the west. The same year, in July, he married Madame Artaud, formerly of San Francisco, who had joined "the trail of '99." Madame Artaud knew well the rigors of the Klondike. Once in Yukon she established a prosperous road house. She predeceased him several years.

In Prince Rupert, the Besners founded one of the community's early hotels, the Knox, now known as the Ocean View Hotel, situated on First Avenue. Mr. Besner took an active part in local business affairs. He was a charter member of the Board of Trade (now the Chamber of Commerce), the Canadian Fraternity, and the Order of Eagles.

He erected the building at Third Avenue and Third Street, known as the Besner Block, which has remained one of the outstanding edifices of the city.

In the '30's, Mr. Besner decided to go south, and possibly remain permanently. He located in Vancouver and eventually became interested in mining, an industry to which he was no stranger, for he knew what seeking metal meant, in the placer fields of the north.

Thirty years ago he was caught in the crash of a plane in which he was a passenger. It collapsed into a lake near Lillooet, north of Vancouver. While he made recovery, he felt effects for a long time.

He was in Prince Rupert last autumn, when he became interested in the possibility of establishing a new and modernized hotel, and came to this city to discuss the project.

Germans Lay Claim To Saar

TRIERG, Germany (CP)—Jakob Kaiser, West German minister for all German affairs, Sunday called for a return of coal-rich Saar to Germany.

He also accused western powers of handing over 1,800,000 East Germans "to a dictatorial system of terror."

Kaiser, a member of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's cabinet, demanded an early solution to the controversial Saar problem "which does not question that Saar is component of Germany."

This little border territory is economically linked to France since the war. It has its own government but West Germans contend it belongs to Germany. In a speech prepared for the patriotic Rhineland rally here, Kaiser said:

"After all, how can we protest convincingly in the East against brutal force and terror if in West (the Saar) the right of self-determination is denied to Germans?"

He was Larry Lawson, of Port Simpson. His companion, Green, saved by hanging on to the boat, RCMP said today.

Lawson sank when he attempted to swim to the floats, a distance of several hundred feet.

Dragging operations have not yet recovered the body. Inquest is not likely to be held, said police.

Lawson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lawson, are leading citizens of Port Simpson. He had several brothers and sisters.

Across the Dominion 42 fatalities—23 of them on highways—marked the first 48 hours of Canada's four-day holiday weekend.

The mounting toll on highways compares with 28 killed in the 72-hour Dominion Day holiday last year. In that period a total of 84 died violently across the country.

Main events arranged for the holiday are a baseball game (international series) tonight, two games tomorrow and a football game tomorrow night. There will be no "Port Day" celebration this year.

Many city residents have taken boats, planes and trains to spend the holiday in Vancouver. Many others plan trips by car to points along the Skeena Highway, which is reported in fair to good condition.
