Try Again

To be a winner, and succeed,
This a lesson you should heed, try again.
If your undertaking should repel,
And your courage seems to fail, don't complain;
For if you're ardent, and persevere,
You will conquer, never fear, try again.

If with your first attempts, get vexed,
And your mind seems thus perplexed, ascertain:
A good intention will rarely fail,
And if you would at last prevail, try again.

If you find your task is hard,
Time will bring you due reward;
Patience is a wondrous clue,
Only keep this rule in view, and try, again,

Nurses Ready to Mobilize In Case of Disaster Here

How casualties would be handled in the case of disaster in Prince Rupert was discussed last night as a series of civil defence classes for nurses came to a close after having been in progress for the past several weeks at the Nurses' Home of Prince Rupert General Hospital under auspices of the Prince Rupert chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia.

Should the Prince Rupert General Hospital become filled with casualties, Miller Bay Hospital would be pressed into service for the overflow. Should the Columbia Cellulose plant be struck, they would be taken direct to nearby Miller Bay.

MEETING THE PROBLEM

The specific problem at last night's session was the steps to be taken if Prince Rupert was bombed with high explosives and incendiaries, electricity cut off, extensive fires occurring in the business section and shipyards, involving possibly some 500 casualties requiring hospitalization or, if the cellulose plant was bombed, 100 casualties.

Miss Elizabeth Clement, R.N., outlined the reorganization of her staff and equipment so that patients would be received at one entrance while patients fit to be evacuated from the hospital would leave for another area. She described possible curtailment of routine services and the setting up of teams of nurses for emergency service, treating the various types of casualties according to their particular needs. Miss Mary Sinclair, R.N., outlined her plan to extend surgery service to deal with the large number of patients, how supplies and sterilizing would be handled by special teams on 24-hour basis.

AT MILLER BAY

Mrs. Eunice Davis, R.N. and Miss Doris Hall, R.N., of Miller Bay Hospital, described the evacuation of regular patients to their recreation hall to make the main hospital available to receive casualties from Prince Rupert, Port Edward or Watson Island and the extension of surgical facilities.

Miss Muriel Vincent, Miller Bay dietician, outlined the or-
