Malayan Iron In Big Demand By Japanese

SINGAPORE (P)—Malaya, experiencing a slump in its primary products—rubber and tin—is turning to iron as a major industry.
 Bigtime operators are crashing the field—undeveloped till shortly before the Pacific war. And Japanese, who first started the industry in Malaya and lost their properties through the war, are this country's biggest ore customers.
 Leases have been granted in recent months on about areas in Johore state, South Malaya, and in Perak, Pahang and Trengganu states.
 Iron is believed available in many other areas but prospecting is being hampered by the Communist rebellion.
 Malaya's iron deposits occur in hundreds of jungle-covered hills rising to 1,500 feet. The hills are made of pebbles and boulders of ore, believed to be the remains of ore mountains which have crumbled through the ages.
 One of the richest iron fields in Malaya is believed to be in South Pahang state, a few miles inland from the South China sea. Japanese experts estimated before the war that this area alone contains at least 20,000,000 tons of high-grade iron ore.

A FULL LENGTH zipper beneath the bias flap gives an unusually sleek look to Sodi's short beach coat of candy-striped terry. Model Jean Courdays wore it during the Miami Fashion Council's cruise and resort wear show at a Miami Beach hotel.

A REAL CAT FIGHT is part of the entertainment at Miami's Surf Club. The fighting felines are Persian Joe Wildcat and Alley Catsiano, who go at each other tooth and gloved-paw—for the world championship, purrhaps. Called back to the microphone to comment about his opponent, the winner gave out a long "meowwww."

Ex-Wehrmacht Do Research On Army Records

AACHEN, Germany (P)—In a Benedictine abbey near here a handful of former German soldiers are working over 650 tons of jumbled German army records.
 The task has taken on importance because thousands of former Wehrmacht officers and men have volunteered for the 500,000-man force West Germany plans to contribute to the proposed European army.
 Before these men can be accepted, their records must be thoroughly checked. A special research centre will be set up near Bonn early next year.
 The 650 tons of records have been gathered during the last year from points throughout West Germany. So far, 1,700,000 identification papers, 5,400,000 service papers and hundreds of volumes of health records have been collected.
 The West German defence commission has stipulated that a former member of the Wehrmacht will not be accepted for the European army if his records show convictions for crimes during the war.
