

Trespassing With Sandy

Remembrance Day has passed since more with high praise once again from all the men for the magnificent way in which the ladies waited on them at the annual dinner in the Canadian Legion.

There were smiles all round and it's safe to say all went home happy.

It would be hard to single out any one of the ladies as the hardest worker, but convener Joyce Duncan received well-earned handshakes from the men and women for the excellent chore she did in arranging the dinner.

With the exception of Phil Ray and Keith DeWitt, who helped Mrs. Dickens and Mrs. W. A. Osborne carve the turkeys, all the work for the dinner was done by the ladies.

Six smiling girls kept the men happy as they waited on the tables but were all glad when the last dish was passed around. Moving up and down between the tables were Helen Sparks, Babs DeWitt, Elsie Anderson, Rose Morrow, Sadie Downing and Helen Denning.

A busy kitchen crew also breathed a sigh of relief when the dinner was over. Helping to fill the plates and keep the servers busy were Pat Anderson, Vi Geddes, Ruby Morrison, Hazel Gamblin, Jean Gordon, May Pihera, Rose Rosedale, Madge Roxborough, Ethel Ganton, Jose Taylor, Margaret McGrish, Rose Hodges and Margaret Stannard.

Always-happy Myra Gilchrist, Peggy Andrews and Isabelle Butterick greeted the veterans from their cloak-room booth and kept the many hats and coats in order while the men ate.

With the exception of a greeting from the American Legion by "sailor-boy" Jerry Estey, and an "explanation" from RCMP Inspector Taylor, the only speech made at the dinner was that by emcee Keith DeWitt.

The inspector isn't promising to bring horses here for the parade next year. He expressed regret that he could not do so this year... but he only wanted to bring the best and, he said, the top horses had been sent to England for the Coronation and the long trip here might be too tiring.

Jimmy Morvie, Jack Holden and Johnny Laurie, crewmen from the Prince George, received a big hand for their sons as did Margaret Kane, paper Jim Munro, and Mrs. Ralph Smith as she sang in Flanders Fields.

Karl A. Stahl, Swedish consul at Vancouver, arrived in the city on the Prince George yesterday and is staying here until Friday. Mr. Stahl, who is a long-time resident of British Columbia, is paying his first visit to Prince Rupert and will include a brief visit to Kitimat while in this area to familiarize himself with the possibilities of the two ports.

The man who "exceeds" in all sports, Tom Christie, is now trying to learn some trick shots in basketball. Whether it will do him any good is something else. Tom is organizing a team of Rotarians to challenge the Gyro Club. Ever since the Rotarians won a golf match over the Gyros at Smithers last summer, they have been waiting their chance to chalk up another victory. Many of the city's best basketball players of past years are Gyros. Tom has no worries, he says.

Jaycee added another star to their chain when Gerry Pettenuzzo was admitted to the Bar at Vancouver.

Speaking at a Jaycee meeting this week, Jay Burns explained that he wasn't referring to business when he said he had a lot of red tape. He meant the scotch-lite tape for auto bumpers.

A NEW FAVORITE among London fashions is Canadian sables in wide stoles of around six skins, priced at 30 guineas (about $90) a skin. They are elegant day or evening wear.

Borden School Children Mark Remembrance

A Remembrance Day ceremony was held at Borden Street school Tuesday when the whole school assembled to take part in a service.

The Canadian Ensign was carried by Lorraine Love and Sharon Bond, after which principal J. S. Wilson spoke on the meaning of Remembrance Day.

He told the children to remember those who fought in both world wars and in Korea, and suggested that they should also look ahead and pray for the future. It would be safe and sure if they would work and fight for the freedoms of speech and religion.

Bugler W. J. Rance sounded the Last Post and also the Reveille. The school joined in the singing of "In Flanders Fields." The ceremony concluded with the singing of God Save the Queen.

Plans to Assist Conrad P.T.A. Well-Baby Clinic

Members of Conrad School P.T.A. will help the Skeena Health Unit staff every Thursday afternoon when the well-baby clinic is held at Conrad hall, it was decided at the regular meeting Tuesday night.

Mrs. Victor Duplise and Mrs. J. R. Ayres were named conveners to arrange dates suitable to all members.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to the Prince Rupert Kinsmen club thanking them for their efforts on Halloween.

Miss Jean Burns, Grade 1 and 2, class won the attendance award.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the members saw two films on nutrition.

Special Movie

A special film with a religious theme will be shown at the Regular Baptist church Friday night at eight o'clock.

It is "Lord of All," a dramatic story of a talented but self-centred young trumpet player whose great ambition is to be a member of a big-name band.

Prince Rupert Newlyweds Honeymoon At White Rocks

Due home soon from a honeymoon at White Rock, B.C., are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sommerville, Prince Rupert newlyweds.

The bride is Marion, daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Horne, 1822 Second Avenue, and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. George Somerville of White Rock, formerly of Copper City.

School Social Life Topic Of Forum

A forum on high school students' clothes, make-up, and party habits at a Booth Memorial High School P-TA meeting found interested students and parents in general agreement on most of the topics.

A large attendance of P-TA members heard some of their number discuss the student customs with a group from the student council including Georgina Mitchell, Myrna and Bobby Knudsen and Jimmy Bateman, junior and senior students.

Parents and students agreed in turning thumbs down on a uniform for school wear. Both felt that school uniforms would take away from individuality and freedom. However, parents felt there should be some limits in school attire, mentioning especially slacks, peek-a-boo nylon blouses and pin-curl hair for girls.

On the question of make-up, parents and boys students agreed that younger girls were more charming with their natural complexions than with make-up, and that if older girls wished to use make-up, they should be taught how to use it properly so as to avoid a grotesque effect. The girls took little part in this discussion.

Acting Principal R. H. Davidson, chairman of the forum, told the parents that the school had no ruling on make-up but that on occasion, the effective living teacher had given some girls help with make-up.

GRADUATION GOWNS
In a discussion on clothes for graduation ceremonies, the students came up with a tentative plan under consideration by the student council: they would purchase graduation robes and caps which could be rented by graduating classes. The robes would be paid for in about five years through the rentals.

Parents and students also were in general agreement on the hours for school parties. The youngsters won parental approval when they explained that junior parties and dances closed at 10:30 p.m. and senior parties at midnight, though many parents frowned when the youngsters announced that the midnight closing gave them time to go down town for snacks.

PARTIES CRITICIZED
However, student house parties drew strong disapproval from parents. Students made no comment on this discussion. Some parents said that often parties

The Rev. Lawrence G. Sieber officiated at the rites in the First United Church, for which the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Sam Currie.

She chose a gown of traditional white satin and lace, featuring an overskirt of net lace panels, and lace bodice with lily point sleeves. A coronet of lace and net secured her hip-length silk embroidered veil and she carried a lovely spray of American Beauty roses.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Frank Ciapp, matron of honor, wearing a gown of rose sheer over taffeta with lace-trimmed bodice. She wore a floral wreath in her hair and carried a pretty bouquet of pastel mums.

Best man was Mr. Peter McLeod and ushers were Mr. Walter Carlson and Mr. Ronald Rothwell.

The home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Janes, was the scene of the reception at which Mrs. Horne and Mrs. Currie joined the bridal party in receiving guests, the former wearing a smart ensemble of navy blue with pink carnations on corsage, and the latter in a frock of mauve printed silk, also with pink carnations.

The bride's table, covered with a hand-crocheted cloth, held a three-tier cake, topped by miniature bride and groom, with pink candles in silver holders and roses and mums.

Bells and streamers and many flowers graced the rooms for the reception.

For her honeymoon trip, via the Prince George to White Rock, the bride chose a smart boucle suit of green with pale mauve top coat, black accessories and corsage of yellow carnations.

The couple will reside at 1832 Second Avenue.

were staged in private homes, ending at three or four o'clock in the morning, and that parents of the host student left the youngsters to themselves for these parties.

During the P-TA business meeting following the forum, the group decided to donate $2.50 to the Prince Rupert Music and Drama Festival association and named H. G. Clegg representative to that organization.

Mr. Graham, district school inspector, was persuaded to be program convener for the remainder of the season.

ASKS DONATIONS
Miss Evelyn Hrebnicka appealed to members for donations through CARE for Korean relief work, and also asked members to give used magazines to the school.

The Soup's On Committee reported that the school's hot soup lunch program had opened Monday with 111 students buying the soup to supplement their lunches. Mrs. William Rothwell is in charge of the kitchen for the soup program.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Murdo MacKenzie and her committee.

In 1952 Canadian factories produced 149,454,656 square feet of cardboard.

SMILING MERNE PERRY, 20, has been chosen Miss Alouette and will represent the Big Four football team at the Miss Grey Cup contest in Toronto Nov. 23. A native of Montreal, Miss Perry is in her third year at McGill University. Last year she was chosen Canada's "Prom Queen."

District News

STEWART—S. F. Macdonald, Slibak Premier mine manager, has been here during the past week making necessary arrangements for the care of the plant and equipment for the winter months.

There is no definite information at the moment as to whether the mine will be re-opened. It would appear, however, from the results obtained from the Indian mine operation and the Premier Border that some arrangement may be come to whereby these two companies can use the facilities of the Slibak Premier. This is, naturally, purely speculation. Meantime it is reported that arrangements have been made with the Department of Public Works to keep the road to the mine open during the winter, as there will be a small crew at the property.

Queen Plans Broadcast From Auckland

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (P)—For the first time since royal Christmas Day broadcasts were inaugurated by King George V in 1932 this year's message will be aired from outside England.

The Queen will broadcast from the opposite side of the world, speaking from government house in Auckland.

Radio experts believe that as a result of careful planning the Queen's speech will be heard by more people than ever before.

The Queen will make her speech at 9 p.m. Christmas Day, New Zealand time, which will be in the early hours of Christmas morning in Canada. The time chosen was decided upon after lengthy discussions for three reasons:

It suits the Queen's convenience.

It suits the greatest number of listeners throughout the Commonwealth.

It offers the most favorable transmission and reception conditions.

It will be a summer evening when the young Queen sits down at a simple, old-fashioned desk to make her broadcast.
