Ken Watson's Curling

NO RIDERS PLEASE

One thing I have observed in watching hundreds of American curlers in Minnesota and Wisconsin is that there are no riding sliders among them. Why? . . . I thought that over a long time before realizing that in the milder climate farther south, they have to play many games on wet ice when the weather turns warm. Have you ever tried to throw a brisk "runner" on wet, sloppy ice? Then try to throw a really fast rock by riding out with the stone first.

Many American curlers have developed a beautiful swing delivery as a result of their experience on soft ice, and in most cases they are deadly on fast take-out shots. It would therefore sound logical that a riding slider would be completely helpless on wet ice and similarly he would not be too effective where a fast shot was required. When I select a player for my team, I want a man who can perform well under all conditions.

The second big complaint about a rider is that he is a pusher and he frequently hooks or slices his stone as he gives the handle a twist when he releases it. The headaches he gives himself and his skip by being wide or narrow of the broom so often, you think would make him see the error of his ways, but no . . . he goes on in blissful ignorance — probably blaming his misses on the ice, his skip or his bad luck. Of course, the law of averages will grant him a few games where he is "red hot," but opposing skips will be grateful for the occasional rest he gives their aggravated ulcers.

Bid on Doubtful Values Leads Partner to Trouble

Today's deal illustrates a passing situation which is often overlooked by players like Miss Brash.

When your partner opens the bidding with one of a suit and second hand passes, I go along with the idea of stretching meagre values to make a response of some kind to give partner another chance. He may have a hand which is only a queen short of an opening two bid.

When second hand overcalls your partner's opening, however, it is no longer necessary to strain to find a bid. Partner automatically gets another chance by reason of the overcall. If you do bid on doubtful values in this situation, you are giving your partner a wrong impression. He will count on you for more than you have and it is likely that he will bid the hand overboard.

In the deal shown, Miss Brash had a fair dummy for a spade contract. But when Mr. Dale overcalled with two hearts, it was not necessary nor desirable for her to make a "chance" raise. If Mr. Champion was not strong enough to make a second bid, then it was likely that Mr. Dale and Mrs. Keen had the balance of power and certainly no game would be missed on the North-South cards.

Of course, Mr. Champion would have bid again if the two heart call had been passed around to him. He probably would have said two spades and regardless of whether the partnership then stayed under game or not, at least they had a better chance to do so.

When Miss Brash gave her faulty raise to two spades on the

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

JUDGING THE RANGE OF INCOMING DUCKS

WHEN SHOOTING OVER DECOYS YOU WILL KNOW THE DUCKS ARE WITHIN RANGE IF THEY COMPARE IN SIZE TO THE DECOYS. MOST DECOYS ARE MADE LARGER THAN LIFE-SIZE FOR BETTER VISIBILITY BUT REMEMBER THAT A FLYING DUCK LOOKS LARGER BECAUSE IT IS ACTIVE.

WHEN A PERMANENT BLIND IS USED, MARKERS CAN BE SET UP 40 YARDS AWAY TO ESTABLISH THE RANGE. SHOOTING BEYOND THIS RANGE USUALLY RESULTS IN TRIPLES THAT SWIM AWAY.

first round of bidding, Mr. Champion's jump to four was automatic and fully justified.

Mr. Champion found an unlucky matching up of cards between his hand and dummy. He also lost the spade finesse. He was down two, losing a spade, a heart and three diamonds. The heart losers were held to one by discarding a small heart from dummy on the second club lead.
