Gunmen Tell Bedtime Story Before Robbery

CHICAGO (U)—Two gunmen told bedtime stories to keep three small children quiet Sunday night while they they awaited the return of the tots' father to rob him of $4,525 in cash and jewelry valued at $5,000.

One of the gang of five posed as a Western Union messenger to get into the home of Louis Fahrberger, a bakery owner.

The baby-sitter, Mrs. Marian Schmidt, 36, said the noise of their attempts to break into a wall safe aroused the children—Christine, 3, Fred, 4, and Louis Jr., 8.

The robbers and Mrs. Schmidt, by their orders, took turns telling the youngsters about Goldilocks and the three bears, the three little pigs, and other fairy tale characters to allay their alarm over the presence of strangers.

When Fahrberger walked in, he told police, one of the robbers seized Christine and said, "I'll shoot her if you don't get your hands up and that safe open."

The robbers locked Fahrberger, Mrs. Schmidt and the youngsters in a closet before leaving.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

Criticism of Partner Makes Situation Worse

Have you ever thought about this amazing, almost unbelievable, fact—that practically all of the criticism and sarcasm at the bridge table is directed not against the opponents, who represent the enemy, but against partner? It's like a soldier shooting at his own comrades.

Although it may not seem so at times, your partner is your ally. You will do much better on the score-sheet if you will encourage him and co-operate with him instead of trying to prove how badly he bids or plays.

In defending a hand, the weaker your holding is, the more likely it is that partner has the setting tricks. But even where he does not have enough strength to defeat the opposing contract, it is essential that you stay alert, playing your cards in such a fashion as to guide partner in the proper defense.

In today's deal Mr. Abel had a really pitiful hand and he promptly lost all interest in the proceedings. Miss Brash barged into seven no trump without bothering to check on kings and Mrs. Keen got off to the king of hearts opening.

Dummy's ace won and Miss Brash noted that she had only 12 sure winners—five spades, one heart, two diamonds and four clubs.

She ran off four club tricks, discarding a heart from her hand. Mr. Abel had to make two discards. With a hopeless bust, his play didn't seem to make any difference and he dropped the deuce of hearts and the trey of diamonds.

Miss Brash then cashed five spade tricks, discarding her last two hearts and the deuce of diamonds. This left dummy with the nine, trey of hearts and a diamond and the closed hand with ace, king, nine of diamonds.

Mrs. Keen couldn't let go of the queen of hearts or dummy's nine would be good, so she dropped the eight of diamonds. Miss Brash won the last three tricks with her diamonds.

Mr. Abel's failure to co-operate cost his side a vulnerable grand slam. A little thought on his part would have made it clear that the only suit he could do anything about was the dia-
