Tribute Paid Little Loop Progress As Young Ball Players End Season

"They'll never learn," was the rather pessimistic prediction of one of the original coaches of Little League baseball when it started up in Prince Rupert four years ago.

It was uttered thoughtlessly and inconsiderately, after he surveyed the youngsters before him—youngsters who didn't know the first thing about pitching or hitting and even a few who didn't know which end to hold the bat. But they are the same youngsters who hurried and swung their way up the ladder of ability so that today they are recognized as baseball potentials in every sense of the word.

Such is Little League. A collection of enthusiastic youngsters all shapes and sizes. And such was the description cates, told the boys the main reason they were bound together was because of team work.

"Little League has progressed all over the country and has developed not only good ball players—but good citizens. The mayor and city council congratulate you," he said.

W. C. Hankinson, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation manager for radio station CFPR, told the youngsters that to get ahead whether in baseball or business, "you've got to be smart." Team work is not good unless you yourself are good, he said to the boys.

"Although there is only one sport on the face of the earth that exceeds all the others, it is so much better when well-organized. To accomplish this we must work with the team and adhere to the rules," he advised.

Little League has come far this year and now ranks as one of the top leagues in the province. Tribute to the advance goes to managers and coaches Doug Kerr, Doug Walker and Art Ogilvie of Sea Kings; Jack Sparks, Terry McNeice, Joe Arsenault of Shop Easy; Dick Boyle, Kenny Warren, North Stars and Gordy Cameron; Joe Griesel and Don Cameron of Kinsmen.

The banquet was provided, prepared and served by mothers of Little Leaguers.

Bertha Dunbar of Jeannies in A league of the Women's Five-Pin Bowling League gained double honors Tuesday night chalking up both high single and high three.

Bertha scored a high single of 304 and put together three games for a total of 731.

Both high team single of 987 and team high triple of 2811 in A league was won by Annettes.

In B league Ruth Ramsey of Credit Union bowled high single of 286 and took the high three with a total of 670.

Both high team single of 937 and team high triple of 2579 went to Cooks Jewellers.
