Mr. Dale thought of doubling! the five heart bld, believing he could set it if his partner got off to a club lead. As you see, he was right. But he finally decidcd it was too close to fool with. Five spades certainly couldn't be beaten badly and might even be mukeable.

OLD RELIABLE

Good old Muzzy! As soon as the bidding was over he banged @ Powerful & tube radio. 3 12 inch Speaker for Better down the jack of hearts. Now. the jack is not the right lead from his holding. He should have led his fourth best. There was! still another defect. It was not his reador of the

As usual Mr. Judge, the selfappointed arbiter of the game, was close at hand, licking his chops over the prospect of practicing his favorite occupation--settling a dispute at the bridge

He said that the jack of hearts could be accepted as a correct lead. But if Mr. Dale didn't l want to accept it he could require Mr. Muzzy to retract the lead and make the jack of hearts | a penalty card, to be played at the first legal opportunity.

There was a third choice. Mr. Dale could forbid Mr. Champion to lead a heart. CHAMPION FUMES

This fast penalty was the one Mr. Dale chose. Funing and muttering to himself, Mr. Champion led a small club.

Mr. Dale ruffed and laid down the ace of spades. He then started the diamonds and Mr. Champion died a thousand deaths as ha had to follow to three leads of that sult.

He ruffed the fourth diamond this trick Mr. Dale discarded a defenders got just two tricks-a heart and the king of spades.
