OTTAWA (CP)—Russian Fisheries Minister A. A. Ishkov is scheduled to arrive by fishing trawler at St. John's Nfld., Aug. 22 to begin a month-long Canadian visit.

"Union negotiators have stressed at every meeting the need for signing agreements before the opening of major fishing operations," he said.

A union spokesman said the union intends to conduct further talks with the association this week in an effort to avert the strike.

OTTAWA (CP)—Russian Fisher-ers Minister A. A. Ishkov is scheduled to arrive by fishing trawler at St. John's Nfld., Aug. 22 to begin a month-long Canadian visit.

Officials here say the idea of using such transportation is apparently to show off a new Russian trawler. They didn't know whether the trawler would come via the Baltic sea or from Murmansk on the Barents sea coast.

Mr. Ishkov will be only one of two Russian ministers to visit Canada this year. G. M. Orlov, minister of forest industry, is expected in the fall.

Last year, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Fisheries Minister Shneidman visited Russia and Russian Agriculture Minister Mintskevich came here.

An increasing number of exchange visits between Canada and Russia is expected in light of Prime Minister St. Laurent's statement earlier this week that the new Soviet attitude offers opportunities for better East-West relations. Informants said the prime minister was referring to more exchange visits as a first step toward improved relations.

CCF opposition leader Robert Strachan said the Social Credit government "not only underestimates its revenues, but overestimates its expenditures," producing a "terrible" surplus at the end of the year.
