Why only 10P gets the full power from High Octane Gasoline

You might expect that all you need to get the full power out of a high compression engine is high octane gasoline. Actually you need more than just high octane-you need a gasoline with a special kind of additive,

That's because the way most of us drive most of the time-short trips here and there -creates a power-wasting problem that neither engine design nor leighest octane gasoline can solve by themselves.

This problem is the increased build-up of certain deposits within the combustion chambers ... the principal cause of power waste. What happens is this:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too-glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals-ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time . . . before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

But there is an answer-there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-crippling effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP*.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fireproofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP atops spark plug "miss," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP, 1t% the most powerful gosoline your car can use!

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gondine additive developed by Shell Research, Patent applied for
