Stewart News

STEWART—Hunter Smith and a small crew arrived from Victoria on the Camosun to commence the season's operation on the Silver Tip Mine. Details as to the extent of the operation are not available at the moment but we are informed that the company expects to ship ore for treatment at Silbak-Premier mill when that is again in operation.

The road to the mine is fairly near as far as the gap on the Big Missouri Road and from there across the Joker Flats there is about a foot of snow. At the gap itself there is about five feet of snow which is now being cleared by a crew from the Department of Highways. There was quite a bit of snow at the cabins and pack rats had been busy, during the winter, chewing up the mattresses so that the "cubins" were in bad shape. However it was nothing that a little elbow grease could not take care of. They expect to be able to take their truck over the road shortly.

Born in Timmins, Ontario, Raymond MacMillan has lived at Mooseheart for the past five years and was adopted by Chapter No. 211 three years ago.

It was also announced that the money will begin a fund to further Raymond's education when he completes his high school training.

Mrs. L. C. R. Rasbe won the tablecloth raffle, donated by the Mooseheart committee.

A social evening of refreshments and dancing concluded the annual event.

MOTIONS AND AMENDMENTS

The core of all procedure is the motion. Around it functions the business meeting and all other things are secondary to it.

What is a motion? It is simply a more or less formal statement of a subject which it is proposed to discuss. The procedure is formal: Someone makes the motion; another person seconds it. It is then recorded in the minutes and presented to the meeting for discussion. At that point, the meeting is said to be "seized of the motion" which it may proceed to accept, reject, or modify.

It should be noted that a motion does not exist until it is seconded. It is normally considered frivolous to take the time of a meeting to discuss a matter unless at least two people have shown interest in it.

Once a formal proposal has been accepted for discussion, the meeting may proceed to its improvement through amendment. Again, the procedure is rather formal but equally simple. The first principle to keep in mind is that the amendment deals only with detail and that the chairman must reject any proposed amendment which would destroy the principle purpose of the motion.

There is no limit to the number of amendments which may be proposed but only one of them may be before the meeting for discussion at one time. While an amendment is under discussion, it is further possible to sub-amend that amendment. It is not, however, permissible to sub-amend a sub-amendment.

It goes without saying that a sub-amendment must be dealt with first. It is impossible to deal directly with a motion or an amendment while some amendment thereto is under discussion.

It has been said that the putting of a motion to a meeting is a hollow formality after the acceptance or rejection of amendments, that the motion must automatically go with the amendments. This is utter nonsense. No-one is bound to vote
