U.S. Navy Reports Airman Shot Lone Body Found Off China Coast

IWAKUNI, Japan (AP) — U.S. Navy air officials said tonight the body of a crew member of a U.S. patrol plane downed off the Red China coast had wounds inflicted by gunfire.

Capt. Earl Junghann, commander of the fleet air detachment at Iwakuni naval air station, said wounds on the body of technician Albert P. Mattin of Delta, Ohio, contained metal fragments from gunfire.

Mattin's body is the only one reported found since the U.S. Navy patrol plane vanished early on Thursday after radioing that it was being attacked by unidentified planes 32 miles off the Red China mainland.

The gunfire wounds did not cause Mattin's death, however.

Junghann said that death was caused by multiple injuries received in the crash of the plane from Formosa. Vice-Admiral Stuart Ingersoll, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, said today the search had been terminated for survivors of the navy patrol plane. But in Washington officials said the search is continuing "at full force."

The Washington announcement came from the office of Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations.

Ingersoll's announcement here said the hunt was called off at 11:25 a.m. Friday after "all possibility of locating survivors was exhausted."

Liquor in Cafe Brings $50 Fine

A charge of having liquor in a restaurant brought a $50 fine, costs, or in default of payment a month's jail sentence in police court before Magistrate W. D. Vance this morning.

George Henry Flewin, 33, of Vancouver, pleaded guilty to the charge.

Police testimony was offered that Flewin had been checked in a Third Avenue restaurant late last night with a half-gallon bottle of wine in his possession.

JEAN ANDERSON
... to vie for Miss PNE title.

Jean Anderson On Way To "Miss PNE" Contest

Few spare moments will be available in the next five days for a 17-year-old Prince Rupert high school girl who today left for Vancouver as the city's representative in the province's biggest-ever beauty contest, to be judged August 29 at the Pacific National Exhibition.

For Jean Anderson, pretty young winner of the July 2 "Miss Prince Rupert" contest and other top beauties from 29 British Columbia communities, an excitement-packed round of activities has been arranged by PNE directors to take up nearly every minute until the final judging of "Miss PNE."

This morning Miss Anderson was given a civic send-off at the Sea Cove air base where acting mayor Alderman Kay Smith wished Prince Rupert's entry in the beauty contest success on behalf of the city residents.

On hand to pipe the young girl aboard the plane were five members of the 120th West Coast Harbor Defence Troop RCA (M. Pipe Band).

Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Lodge 342, Donald Wannahacker, presented Miss Anderson with a red rose corsage. A. R. Scarle represented the Daily News.

"Miss Prince Rupert," who is the daughter of Mrs. Viola Anderson, 1014 Alfred Street, flew to Vancouver today. Tomorrow she enters the swirl of official appearance which precede the extravaganza's beauty "parade."

Among tomorrow's activities will be dinner with PNE directors and guests at a leading Vancouver hotel followed by a beauty parade rehearsal.

Appearances at the exhibition will start Monday, when Miss Anderson will take tours of the horticultural and manufacturers buildings. Later Miss PNE aspirants will put in an appearance at the Western Interprovincial Football game.

John T. Cheeseman, Newfoundland's new fisheries minister, was host on behalf of the provincial government at a banquet for visiting Russian Fisheries Minister Alexander A. Ishikov and his host, Canadian Fisheries Minister Sinclair.

"Comrade ministers," said Mr. Ishikov, "I extend my thanks on behalf of my colleagues and myself for such a warm welcome in Newfoundland. We came here friendly and with open hearts — we have the deepest respect for your great Canadian people."

Mr. Douglas is expected to come here from Dawson Creek Sept. 5 and address meetings in Vancouver and on Vancouver Island. However, a full itinerary has not yet been worked out.

He may join CCF Leader Robert Strachan's campaign in the northern part of the province.

By entering the B. C. campaign, Mr. Douglas is taking a loan from the book of his Social Credit opponents, who importuned several B. C. cabinet ministers headed by Premier Bennett in an unsuccessful attempt to unseat his Saskatchewan government.

CCF officials in Prince Rupert announced today that arrangements have been completed for the visit here of the provincial leader Monday.

Mr. Strachan will address a public meeting at the Canadian Legion auditorium at 8 p.m.

At 8:30 p.m. the B. C. CCF chieftain will take part in a radio broadcast with socialist candidate for Skeena, Frank Howard, M.L.A. for Skeena in the last legislature.

Vancouver Paper Claims Princess to Visit B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sun says Princess Margaret has accepted an invitation to come to British Columbia for this province's centennial celebration in 1958.

"She will spend an extensive period here during B.C.'s centennial year," the newspaper said in a front-page story. It said information was obtained "exclusively" and that "Officials insisted today on keeping mum about the visit."

Premier Bennett and other officials declined comment. Ottawa officials disclaimed knowledge of the visit.

It would be Princess Margaret's first prolonged visit to this country. Her only previous time in Canada came early in 1935 when a plane carrying her to a West Indies tour stopped off for fuel in Montreal.

From London, Reuters News Agency reports that a spokesman at Buckingham Palace would neither confirm nor deny the report that the Princess has accepted the invitation.

"We don't know anything about this," he said.

Temporary plans are being made for a fly-casting contest and long-rolling event at the Gyro swimming pool in conjunction with the annual swimming regatta, Miss Thain said today.

Mr. Macphee said that help in the project had been assured from electricians, fishermen, bartenders, civic workers and longshoremen's unions.

LaMarca was quoted as saying he abandoned the child the next day after he panicked in a vain attempt to collect $2,000 in ransom.

Clerk Averts Fire

A potential threat to the Commerical hotel was checked last night by the presence of mind of a shop-clerk.

The clerk, Joe Dellinks, dragged a burning mattress out of the building and succeeded in extinguishing the fire before firemen arrived at 11:15 p.m.

Firemen said this morning that the mishap is attributed to smoking in bed.

Roaring Past, Growing Future To Be Found In Stewart Mines Visiting Party Discovers

This is the first of a series of articles on a week-long fact-finding tour of British Columbia's north country undertaken by members of the Associated Boards of Trade of North-Central B.C. recently. The party of 30 district and Vancouver business men paid flying visits to Stewart, Hazelton, Atlin, Whitehorse, Paster and Terrace.

It was to see this assault force in action that 20 board of trade representatives from central B.C. points and Vancouver last week made a six-day flying tour of northern B.C. that extended into the Yukon. Although most of them live on the rim of the country, they were to visit the interior and had seen it before, this was to be an adventure for all.

Nothing is static in the north country. It is win or lose, and there has been plenty of both.
